DEDICATION

WE, THE CLASS OF 1948, sincerely dedicate this 19 Mountain Breeze to our dearly beloved Alma Mater.

"Dear Greenbank High School
We love you,
And to your colors
We'll e'er be true."

A Brief Educational History of Greenbank Distri

The Greenbank Chapter of Future Homemakers of America consists of 64 girls. The Club teach the girls the art of homemaking. In keeping with the motto "Toward New Horizons" each tries to attain better home and family life.

Each fall freshmen girls, meeting certain qualifications, join the club by initiation. Being the Club consists of a day of folly and a very serious initiation by candlelight the following day.

The meetings are held the second Tuesday of every month during the fifth period. One of lights of the programs was an Easter Parade of styles dating from 1900 to the "new look" of '48.

Every spring our thoughts turn to our Annual Spring Party. Each member invites whom to accompany her. Of course everyone enjoys the occasion thoroughly.

In the spring the chapter is represented by three delegates to the regional and each summe is represented at the State Meeting at Jackson's Mill by three delegates.

The officers elected to serve the club this year are as follows:

SENIOR HISTORY

"Off we go into the wild blue yonder. Plane leaving from Greenbank High School Survey this is a non-stop flight. Destination will not be reached until four years of traveling. Passengers on board. Here we are, the freshmen class, starting a journey which will last four whole years.

During the first year, our pilot, Jimmy Wooddell, and co-pilot, Mary D. Hedrick steered our plane through the storms which occured and helped the crew members to begin a successful journey. The crew thought we would need a morale builder in case our basketball and football players scored a few points below the winning team. Freda Rexrode was unanimously elected to fill the position. Helen Tracy was appointed to keep the records on the first year of our journey.

The first lap of our journey was really like an adventure. We worked hard, but we found that working could be fun on our journey. Our head navigator, Miss Johnson and Miss Post, chartered our plane off course, and went to Hedrick's farm for the day. This was a picnic few Freshmen would forget.

The one catastrophe which occured during our freshmen year, was the death of our dear friend and principal, Mr. C. A. McMillion. To complete the remaining school term Mr. Mack Brooks, Assistant County Superintendent of Schools, supervised the student body.

During the year Greenbank High School organized a band under the direction of Miss A. M. Johnson. Fifteen members of our crew soon were to be letter wearers in the band.

Our freshmen year was drawing to a close and we were off for a few months vacation.

When the sophomore roll was taken there were still fifty-eight crew members present. We welcomed our new principal, Mr. Virgil B. Harris, whose leadership and understanding would guide our footsteps through the next three years of travel.

We, again, elected our crew officers.

portion that were held included Home E., F. F. A., and a Concert. At the end of the year we could truly say that the second lap of our journey was a successful one.

A big change had been gradually taking place - we were now upperclassmen! The following crew members were elected to lead our class under the direction of Mrs. Coyner and Mrs. Davis.

We now had forty-seven crewmen on board our plane to begin our junior journey. The year started off with a bang!!! The class sponsored a Junior party. Under the leadership of Mrs. Davis a Halloween party was planned. In the future when Halloween time rolls around, I'm sure our class will remember a wonderful evening at G. H. S. on "witches night."

Our class was very active during the junior lap of our journey. Helen Tracy represented our school for the first time in the county regional oratorical contests. Jeanne Sheets, an active homemaker, was elected Vice-president of the northern region of the Future Homemakers in America. Several crew members worked on the school paper staff and kept the "Golden Eagle" flying from the press room.

In the spring, our class worked diligently to present the seniors a party which would dwell in their chain of memories.

Several crew members were in the cast of the operetta, "And it Rained," which was presented under the direction of Miss Johnson.

When the presentation of awards was made at graduation, Berlin Galford was chosen by the American Legion to attend State Boy's Camp.

We were a little sad when we completed our junior journey, but the crew was spurred on by the prospect of being "seniors."

Can you imagine, the simple pilgrims who had started on a non-stop flight three years ago were now seniors? Since this was

Our class was very active during the junior lap of our journey. Helen Tracy represented our school for the first time in the county regional oratorical contests. Jeanne Sheets, an active homemaker, was elected Vice-president of the northern region of the Future Homemakers in America. Several crew members worked on the school paper staff and kept the "Golden Eagle" flying from the press room.

In the spring, our class worked diligently to present the seniors a party which would dwell in their chain of memories.

Several crew members were in the cast of the operetta, "And it Rained," which was presented under the direction of Miss Johnson.

When the presentation of awards was made at graduation, Berlin Galford was chosen by the American Legion to attend State Boy's Camp.

We were a little sad when we completed our jurior journey, but the crew was spurred on by the prospect of being "seniors."

Can you imagine, the simple pilgrims who had started on a non-stop flight three years ago were now seniors? Since this was the last lap of our journey, each crew member tried to acquire more knowledge and grasp something new every day.

We elected our officers early in the year as follows:

Pilot ..... Jimmy Wooddell
Co-Pilot ..... Mary D. Hedrick

SENIOR HISTORY

We warmly welcomed our new faculty members Mr. Mosser, Coach, and Miss Parg, Commercial Instructor.

This was really our Football Year! For the first time G. H. S. elected a Football Queen and King with their royal attendants and crowned them at the first Homecoming Celebration. Everyone backed the team in victory as well as defeat. During the Marlinton game, a parade was sponsored by our school. The band members, who led the parade, were proud of their gold and blue capes and hats. Louise Shears and Stanley Robertson were elected queen and King of our football team. The football boys travelled to Lewisburg to win the Greenbrier Valley Championship. The "champs" were honored by a banquet at the end of the season.

A Pageant was presented at Christmas time under the direction of Miss Johnson, Miss Smith, Mrs. Davis, and Mrs. Coyner.

Miss Johnson, supervisor of music, left her position to be married during the holidays. The band continued to play at the basketball games under the supervision of Lorena Shears.

In February, Mr. Roy Anderson from Fairmont College, arrived to fill the vacancy of Miss Johnson. Mr. Anderson has striving, as always, to win at the tournament. The team won our first game but the score was a few points low for G. H. S. during the Lewisburg game. Although we didn't win our boys continued to display their good sportsmanship even in defeat.

There were so many pleasant happenings during our senior year. The day we received our class rings was one of the happiest. It was lots of fun writing on cards to give to our friends and classmates. The senior play, "One Mad Night" was given by the class in April. Two concerts were given by the music department. The parties spiced the atmosphere for the seniors and underclassmates.

At last came Class Night, Baccalaureate Sermon, and Graduation night. The seniors received their diplomas on Graduation night, but we had already received our biggest reward.

And now the senior class wishes to thank all of the parents, teachers, and patrons who have made this journey of knowledge possible. Plane coming in . . . Greenbank High Graduation Station . . . Mission completed by Seniors of '48 . . . prepared for the takeoff into the journey of LIFE.

Lorena Shears.

In February, Mr. Roy Anderson from Fairmont College, arrived to fill the vacancy of Miss Johnson. Mr. Anderson has increased the membership of the band to 30 members and twelve majorettes. He has high hopes for the future bands of G. H. S.

We lost a few games during basketball season but our gold and blue team was completed by Seniors of '48 . . . prepared for the takeoff into the journey of LIFE.

SALUTATORIA

PARENTS, TEACHERS, CLASSMATES, AND FRIENDS: As representative of the Senior Class it is my happy privilege to welcome you to this our commencement exercise. I am sure that I express the feeling of every member of the class when I say that we are extremely happy to have you with us. We are always happy to have our friends with us. During the past four years one fact has been brought home to us very forcibly. That fact is that you, our parents and neighbors have been the truest, finest, and best friends we have ever had. We feel that we have made this four year journey constantly holding to your supporting hand. For this and all other evidences of friendship and support we now say with all the meaning of which we are capable, "Thank you."

Tonight we have reached a goal for which we have striven during the past four years. When we realize that we have come to the parting of the ways, we wonder with some degree of uncertainty just what all of this is to mean to us in the future. We know that the past has meant friendships that will never be forgotten; happy days that will live in our memories like strings of beautiful beads, all connected together on a golden chain. The future, however, is yet to be proved. We, unfamiliar with the ways of the world, are stepping out into an unknown space. We have only the example of others to guide us in our thinking of the future.

The example of others brings forcibly to our mind one fact. That fact is that we are now standing on the starting line of life, on a basis of equality with the others who will run. We feel that the person who has not a high school education is like a runner in a race who is forced to begin far behind his competitors. In brief, high school graduates are brought up to "scratch" where the start is even and equal for all and the goal equally attainable for each who enters the race.

fore the day of the race. Our trainers have attempted to prepare us for each pitfall and difficulty that may be encountered along the way. In whatsoever way we have failed to absorb our training, just so will we be lacking in the race of life. In whatsoever way we have excelled in the training field, just so will we be well prepared when the time comes to meet our difficulties.

Aside from success in life our training has taught us to draw the best of everything from the world as we go along. It has taught us not to exist merely but to live in the fullest sense of the word. To live we must be aware of the beauty of life and all those other things aside from commercial fields that go to make us the rounded individual.

One thought stands out in our minds. To live well we must believe that we have worth as human beings and as children of God. Also we must be convinced that some useful contribution to the world is required of us. If the contribution can't be a vivid creative thought it can be a contribution of character; if we can't confer on mankind some world changing deed, we can clinch rivets or sell newspapers with such integrity that people will be in some way the better for our having lived. It is each person's duty to live in such a way that somebody, somewhere will be, in some way, the better and stronger and not any wise the worst of our being in the world.

In drawing this talk to a close let me state that perhaps one of the greatest things our education has done for us is to give us confidence: confidence that no matter what we meet along the road of the future somewhere along in the way then will be [illegible] prepared for

VALEDICTORIAN

PARENTS, TEACHERS, MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION, UNDERCLASSMEN, AND PATRONS OF GREENBANK HIGH SCHOOL: With enduring gratitude the class of 1948 bids "farewell" to you. Into all human relationships there come those inevitable moments of saying "goodbye." Our high school days have drawn to a close. The good times and the bad, the laughs, and, occasionally, the tears have been shared together. Now we must each choose a path in life, a pathway of preparation. We have received our earlier preparation in this high school and we must not for a moment forget those who have made it possible.

It is to our parents that we owe deep and sincere "thanks." During these preparatory years our responsibilities have fallen upon their shoulders. Whatever honors we share tonight we pass on to them.

To the faculty we leave our appreciation for the way that you have helped us in our quest for knowledge.

We owe to our Superintendent, the School Board, and the Parent-Teachers Association, the chance to learn in a better, a modern, and more progressive way.

To the people of our communities we extend our congratulations. You have every right to be proud of Greenbank High School, which will continue to raise the standard of education among our people.

To the Junior Class, we leave the magic word "Senior." We know that you will retain the standards, ideals, and traditions of our school.

We must not overlook our heritage, America, where we have the opportunity to learn and live unrestrained. We are not bound to the ideals of any one man. During the past four years we have received our education as a gift. It was given to us with the plea that we use it for our development. MUSIC DEPARTMENT

The Music Department under the direction of Mr. Roy Anderson, who succeeded Mrs. Anna Margaret Wichterich in December of this year, has followed a very active program, consisting of:

1. Active participation at all athletic events.
2. Participation in numerous community sponsored programs.
3. The annual Christmas program, "Christmas in Many Lands," presented for the student body in December.
4. The Annual Spring Concert at Greenbank High School on April 5th and 6th.

The department has enlarged this year to include a Chorus class of high school students.
The Band now wears its Gold and Blue uniforms of capes and caps, includes 12 Majorettes and a Drum Major in its group. Our Director has extensive plans for the future of this organization.

FROM THE PRINCIPAL'S DESK

It is impossible to record all achievements of an individual or a group of individuals in a book of this type. The staff and student members of the MOUNTAIN BREEZE have recorded merely the highlights of the things that have happened during the present year. They have done an excellent job, but this has been done through the expenditure of a great amount of time and effort. It is a challenge to the lower classmen and future

MOUNTAIN BREEZE

MOUNTAIN BREEZE

Published By The Journalism Class of

GREEN BANK HIGH SCHOOL

Green Bank, West Virginia

Foreword

The sands of time have shifted. This the Mountain Breeze for 1960 marks the end of another phase in our lives. As we bid good-bye to these hallowed halls, that have meant so much to us in the past four years, let us pause to look back on some of the activities and organizations that played such a large part in our lives during that time.

Perhaps at a future date when we pick up this book it will bring back pleasant memories and thus serve as a connecting link with past embodied with pleasure and a rich heritage.

To you the graduating class of May 1960 we offer this yearbook which is a record of our last year at Green Bank. Its worth can only be determined by you, THE READER.

Dedicated To...

A man who has served in two capacities at G.B.H.S.---teacher and coach. A man who as a teacher leaves a memorable impression of his guidance and instruction. As coach, he has taught us that sportsmanship and honor come before victory. It is with pleasure that we dedicate this 1960 Mountain Breeze to Mr. Kenneth Sims.

Prophecys

As we look into a crystal ball in the year of 1970, we search for a view of the grads of 1960 to see what progress they have made toward reaching their life's goal.

Jimmy Arbogast is now another Tab Hunter because of his blonde hair and his white coat. Nellie Rose Arbogast, after becoming a registered nurse, is picking splinters from Calvin's hands. Lyle Brooks is in New York City teaching dancing lessons for Arthur Murray. "Tony" (Walter) Byrd is the world's best known lawyer. Bessie Campbell has finally become the head of Campbell Soup Company. Tom Carpenter is the world's champion Figure Caller. Jewel Cosner is now proprietor of the "Curtis" Candy Bar Company. David Gainer is the fastest "Teaberry" picker ever known. Daniel Galford is another Conway Twitty singing, "Oh, Danny Boy". Roger Galford has been winning all the contests on TV for the past two years since he found Pat Bays for his teacher and partner. Shelva Galford is playing the part of Dobie Gillis' girlfriend. James Geiger is the world's fastest flat tire maker and fixer. Betty Jeanne Gragg is special consultant for the president. After ten years of faithful service Buddy Gragg is proprietor of Tallman's Store. Dale Greathouse is just regaining consciousness after receiving an electrical shock received while trying to fix the appliances at G. B. H. S. Marie Greathouse is the director of the television program, "Telephone Hour". Linda Grimes is still a happy married woman. LAST WILLS AND TESTAMENTS

I, Norris Long, will all I know to anybody who thinks he can
it. I, Don Crews, will my standing position in the senior doorway Tom Lightner. I think he wants it.
I, Roy Lambert, will my build to David Hamed.
I, George Brewster, will my ability to sleep in Sociology ( and my beard to Ricky Wilfong.
I, Larry Elza, will my seat in typing class to Gene Rexro hopes that he has more typing ability than I have.
I, Danny Moss, will my sense of humor to Miss Beamer.
I, Louise Davis, will my big mouth to some students on bus even in the halls at G. B. H. S. who thinks his mouth is small.
I, Jesse Nelson, will my classes to Miss Beamer to anyone might peeve her as much as I.
I, Frank Hickson, will to Jerry Turner and Mike Rose my kno of the birds, bees, and naturally known facts of the world....I
they use them as they should be used. (Could be hopeless.)
I, George Shears, will the long hair on the back of my neck
Mr. Stewart, for reasons unknown.
I, Ed Lambert, will my seat in Miss Beamer's class to anyon has the nerve to accept.
I, Charlie Brewster, will my position on the football team
David Pasternack.

I, Ed Lambert, will my seat in Miss Beamer's class to anyone who has the nerve to accept.

I, Charlie Brewster, will my position on the football team to David Pasternack.

I, George Hipes, being of sound mind and tired typing fingers, will my second year typing class to Juanita Taylor.

I, Gene Rexrode, will my guard position to David Pasternak.

I, [illegible] will my ability in [illegible] and a razor to shave it off with, in addition to a pack of Personna Blades, to Tom Lightner. I also will my ability to work algebra to Mike Rose and Jerry Turner.

I, Harold Brooks, will my halfback ability to little Jimmy Hill.

I, Susie Hoover, will my place at the Senior Radiator to Delores Murphy in hopes she will have as much fun there as I have had.

I, Earl Vance, will my ability to sell chances to Mr. Blackhurst.

I, Woodie Lantz, will my hair to Mr. Harris.

I, Steve Plyler, will 50 pounds to Ricky Wilfong.

I, Sam Sheets, will my ability to play defensive end to Ricky Wilfong.

I, David Whanger, will my big stomach to Mr. Crist, in hopes he can carry it better than I. (He needs it.)

I, Peggy Campbell, will all the other Mikes I know to Donna Cover, but I think I'll keep this one.

I, Barbara Nottingham, will my ability to get by with anything, even murder, to Sarah Stone.

I, Mary Smith, will my book, seat, and everything associated to Sociology, plus a warning, to Alice Tyson, in hopes that she can make better use of them than I.

I, Becky Rexrode, will my ability to drive a car to anyone who is willing to take a chance.

LAST WILLS AND TESTAMENTS - Continued

I, Jean Horner, will my ability to get out of sixth period hall to anyone who thinks he can get by with it.

I, Kay Sheets, will my quietness to Mary Alice Taylor.

I, Jackie Plyler, will my temper to anyone who has the ne take it, and anyone's family and friends who can put up with it

I, Lucy Brown, of sound mind and body, hereby will my da talents to Patsy Myers. May you find as much pleasure in them have.

I, Rowena Nicholas, will my Sociology book and everything nected with it to anyone smart enough to pass the course, and ness to Phyllis Daugherty.

I, Diane Kerr, will my majorette ability to Judy Palmer i that she will be able to make good use of it.

I, Ginger Dickenson, will my throne as Homecoming Queen underclassmen to bestow it wisely.

I, Betty Wilfong, will my craziness to anyone who thinks it.

I, Sara Ann Moore, will my ability to be on the GO all t to Dorothy Collins and hope she enjoys it as much as I did.

I, Gloria Monk, prefer not to will anything but rather trade the title Miss for a plain Mrs.

I, Jane Carpenter, will my blonde hair to Betty Chittum she likes it.

I, Jeanne Kane, will my loud singing voice to Jean Baldu

Donna Riley seems to be getting a lot of "Friels, thrills, out of life these days.

Flash! Mike Waslo has just been chosen Mr. America of 1970; with Harry Aldridge giving him a close race.

It seems that "Uncle Sam" is going to have to check draftees a little closer. Just think. Susie Hoover, Ginger Dickenson, and Beverly Wooddell just got their "Greetings" (and I don't mean Christmas card).

Barbara Nottingham just got a raise for doing an excellen typing job for the Moats Oats Company.

Mary Smith is now Professor Smith at West Virginia Universit where she is trying to teach Roy Lambert English Literature.

Phyllis and Betty Wilfong just got a job at a fancy night club, Gloria Monk's Dainty Dive. Phyllis tells the jokes and Bet laughs.

Woodie Lantz, while going to Hosterman, turned on his radi and just heard Johnny Patterson's latest hit, "Donna."

To Our Dear Friend

The first school in the vicinity of Greenbank was erected in 1780. It was a typical pay school of [illegible] the fee was paid by boarding the teacher a certain length of time, according to the numbe scholars in the school.

As Greenbank became a larger place than a one-house-town, a school was erected below the town what was then known as the Crossroads, and named after the location. The school lasted until the year and then a school was built on what is now the property of John R. Gum which was then known as C mill Creek. This school served the purpose of educating the pioneer children for a decade or more.

As churches were built with better regard to the density of the people, the session rooms became school houses, the session room of Liberty Church being one of the most important in Greenbank C munity. The session room schools were usually taught by the pastor, and if the pastor did not t outside teachers would teach a term of three months for a dollar a scholar if there were as many a scholars.

The session room schools lasted until 1842, when the Greenbank Academy was erected where the Fellows Lodge Hall now stands in Greenbank. This was the first free school and was first taugh Professor Benjamin Arbogast, who had influenced the founding of it. The usual number attending sixty-five to seventy-five. This school was part of the academy program of the County which calle the erection of three academies: at Greenbank, Huntersville, and Hillsboro. These three buildings we brick and were the most modern buildings in the County. Most of the people in Greenbank District their children to this school. These scholars boarded at Greenbank for there was no method of conve from the more distant homes.

When a student had finished this school he could attend Institute for a week, and then pass a given and prepared by the County Superintendent and become qualified for a teaching position. Green District had its own Board of Education at that time, so the teachers went before them to qualify job. But they had to have as many as two trustees of the three to sign their contract before the jo forthcoming; the salary being about sixty dollars per month.

A few months after the Civil War, the building was remodeled and changed to a two-storied and renamed the "Advanced School." It had a high standard of education.

The Old Academy served until 1916; the last session being taught by C. E. Flynn, who later be County Superintendent. Its place was taken by the High School.

In the year 1916, John W. Goodsell, President of the Board of Education, with the aid of Dr. L Moomau, founded the Greenbank High School with the grade school being in the same building. The levy of money called for enough money to build the part known a few years ago as the high school which extended from the front of the building to the present end of the press room. At first high and grades were taught in the same part, but as enrollment increased, the building was extended t beginning of the gymnasium, and a few years later the gym and the rooms above it were erected. last was completed in 1926.

Quite a dispute was aroused over the location of the building, so it was submitted to a popular vote main candidates for the election were Cass, Dunmore, Durbin, and Greenbank, with the latter coming in with a fair majority.

The first term of school opened in the fall of 1918 with a small enrollment. The first principal was Haught of Bristol, W. Va., with Miss Lucy Meredith, Margaret Hunt, and Lillian Moomau as assistants.

The first graduate of the school in 1919 was Grace Curry, who had attended Marlinton for three In the year 1920, there were five graduates: Virginia Dare Moomau, Helen Beard, Bertie Beard, Lillian and Lucille Oliver. In 1921 there were ten graduates, fifteen in 1922, fourteen in 1923, nineteen in 1924, and

M. Pinky Taylor, the second principal, was succeeded by T. P. Harwood, who served nine years as p pal. Mr. Harwood was replaced in 1931 by John Roach, who served four years. In 1946, Claude A. McK became principal and served until his death in the spring of 1945, when Mr. Mack Brooks, Assistant C Superintendent, served until the end of the term. In the fall of 1945, Mr. Virgil B. Harris of Caldwell, W became principal and has served ever since.

Basketball started early in the school's history; football not until 1926—first touchdown for the was made by Alen Hiner in a game with White Sulphur. Home Economics was installed about three after the founding of the school. The P. H. A. Club was organized in 1930 and is one of the oldest in the sta 1930, a separate Vo-Ag building was constructed; the following year a huge garage. Hot Lunch Program Greenbank High and Grade School was introduced about fifteen years ago. In 1936 a new addition to the building was made and steam heat was installed. In 1944 the G. H. S. Band was organized under the direct Miss Anna Margaret Johnson. In 1946 a new floor was laid in the gym. A new heating system installed. I Pocahontas County added County Music Supervision in 1948. Miss Dorothy McNeel now serves in that departm In 1947, the P. A. System was installed.

In 1946, the lunch room was remodeled, enabling the Hot Lunch program to prepare and serve the noon meals to over 300 pupils and personnel. With the addition of a large deep freeze, the Vo-Ag depart students butcher and freeze the meat served at the noon lunch. Mrs. Dorothy Wilson is supervisor of Wanda Tracy. Our sponsors for this year were Miss Smith and Mr. Riley.

Our first class party was held in the Gymnasium in the early fall. It remains in our me one of the happiest times of our school days.

We welcomed our new music teacher, Miss Ellis from Glenville. The Glee Club presented Cantata in the churches of different communities. The music festival was held for the first Marlinton.

The Varsity "G" Club was organized this year. All boys earning a letter either from bask football were eligible for membership.

CLASS HISTORY

The Junior English Class debated with the Senior Covertument Class on the question of Socilized Med with our Junior English Class winning.

Following the custom of the past Juniors were host at the Prom given for the seniors. Happy memor of this occasion will linger long with us.

When presentation of awards were made at graduation, Jo Betty Pritchard was chosen by the Amer can Legion Auxiliary to attend Girls State Camp at Jackson's Mill.

With our senior year challenging us we worked eagerly on.

Struggling, striving and ever pushing onward we have finally reached our goal. At last we have reac the year to which all our past efforts have led. Here we are dignified seniors! Unbelieveable but t Since our freshmen days we have grown to maturity so that we are hardly recognizable. The years t seemed so long at first have passed us by with fleeting wings. We realize now that our happy schools d are passing all too quickly.

The days of this, our senior year, were packed with excitment and new adventure.

At class election the following were elected to serve us through our last year. President: William S ton, Vice-President: Betty Ruth Sheets, Secretary: Elaine Peck, Treasurer: Gray Cassell, and Cheerlea John Brown. Our class sponsors were Mr. Blackhurst and Miss Parg.

We warmly welcomed the following new faculty members. Mrs. Florence Bailey, Music Instru Mr. John Towsend, Social Study Teacher and Band Director, Mr. Ralph Micheal, Librarian, Mr. John Mic Social Study Teacher, replacing Mr. McElwee who was called into the service in the early fall.

The first Homecoming Dance was held in the Gymnasium after the Homecoming Game with We Springs. King and Queen of the Homcoming were Frank Collins and Betty Ruth Sheets.

The sad event of our senior year was the news that our dear friend, classmate, and football Johnny Hevener, was stricken with Polio. This deeply touched the hearts of the Football Squad and t them on to victory.

This was a successful year for both football and basketball. We were especially proud of our baske team, who went through the season undefeated, but best of all, were Class B State Runners-Up.

During January our school strived diligently to raise money for the polio drive. Our class came ahead with $179.86. The winner receiving for its efforts a free party.

The highlights of our senior year were the days we received our class rings, cards, senior pic and announcements.

The days of this, our senior year, were packed with excitment and new adventure.

ton. Vice-President: Betty Ruth Sheets, Secretary: Elaine Peck, Treasurer: Gray Cassell, and Cheer
John Brown. Our class sponsors were Mr. Blackhurst and Miss Parg.

We warmly welcomed the following new faculty members. Mrs. Florence Bailey, Music Ins
Mr. John Towsend, Social Study Teacher and Band Director, Mr. Ralph Micheal, Librarian, Mr. John M
Social Study Teacher, replacing Mr. McElwee who was called into the service in the early fall.

The first Homecoming Dance was held in the Gymnasium after the Homecoming Game with Springs. King and Queen of the Homcoming were Frank Collins and Betty Ruth Sheets.

The sad event of our senior year was the news that our dear friend, classmate, and footb Johnny Hevener, was stricken with Polio. This deeply touched the hearts of the Football Squad ar them on to victory.

This was a successful year for both football and basketball. We were especially proud of our b team, who went through the season undefeated, but best of all, were Class B State Runners-Up.

During January our school strived diligently to raise money for the polio drive. Our class ahead with $179.86. The winner receiving for its efforts a free party.

The highlights of our senior year were the days we received our class rings, cards, senior and announcements.

We deeply appreciated the Prom given to us by the juniors. This was the big social event of and many happy memories will linger in our hearts.

We Were Young

When We Were Yo

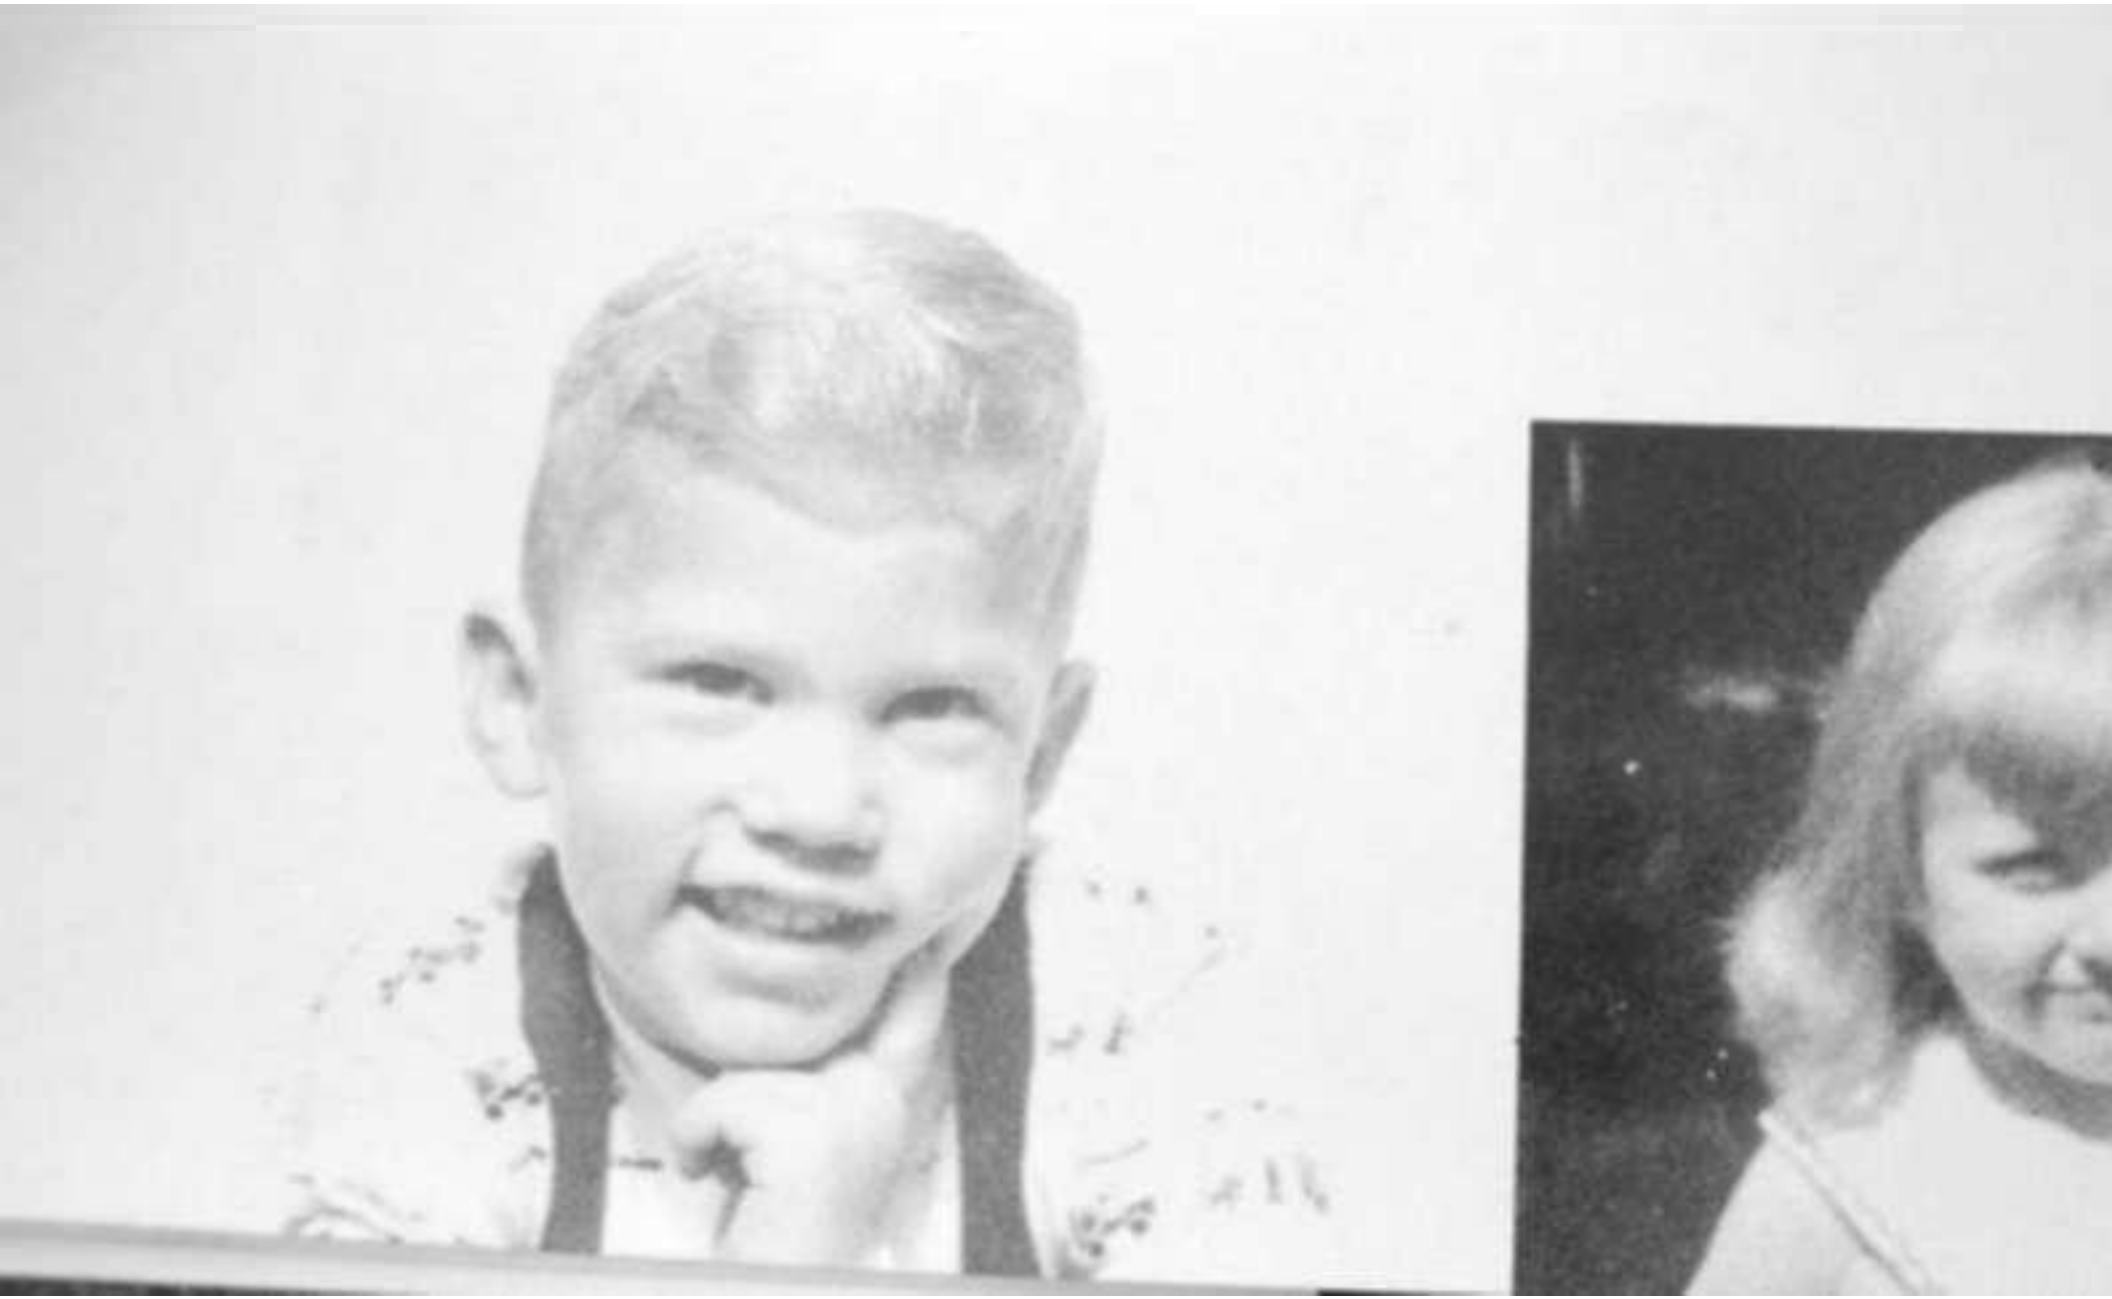

CLASS WILLS

I, Robert Beverage, will my great love for football to anyone that can put up with Coach Brooks' "bull ses

I, Betty Brewster, will my Homecoming crown to my favorite "show-girl", Miss Gypsy Lee.

I, Rebecca Chestnut, will my abundant knowledge of sports (due to Mr. Brooks' coaching) to my young Martin, in hopes he will be a great star! (Beep-Beep)

I, Cheryl Colaw, will my ability to get out of class to help the teachers to Frances Nottingham, in hope as lucky as I was.

I, Dottie Colaw, will my seat on the bus to Gerald Rexrode, in hopes he can be as quiet as I was.

I, Patrick Coleman, will my insatiable thirst to Renae Crist, because I know she's able to get hold "beverages".

I, Leonard Collins, will my typing ability to Mike Hickson so that he can get his jobs in on time.

I, Karen Conn, will all my love for the Shinaberry's to my future cousin, Roy. (Good Luck, Cous'!)

I, Michael Crist, will my not-so-good passing ability, but my good catching ability to Zane Hickson.

I, Clarence Ervine, will my natural curly hair to Mr. Harris, in hopes that he will put it to good use.

I, Barbara Greathouse, will my CAREFUL driving ability to Dana Moyers, in hopes that he will use i did.

I, Leonard Collins, will my typing ability to Mike Hickson so that he can get his jobs in on time.

Superintendent's Message

Pocahontas County Schools
Marlinton, West Virginia

December 16, 1969

Dear Alumni and Friends:

The exploration of space over the past few years will open new horizons in the educational process of young people.

There has to be a united effort by business and industry, governmental agencies, and educational institutions to keep pace with the space age.

The citizens of Pocahontas County have taken the giant step in consolidating their school system by building the new high school. We still need your support even though Green Bank High School will exist no more.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Harris, the faculty, parents, and students of Green Bank High School for their cooperation in moving the Pocahontas County School System forward in order to give future generations a more equal opportunity.

Sincerely,

Grey M Cassell

Grey M. Cassell, Superintendent present facilities are not sufficient to meet the obligation we owe our youth. Now, let's enumerate a few things they need and deserve.

Self-expression in music and dramatics is a God given talent. We have no room for provisions for dramatics. Our auditorium is of necessity being used by a high school class thus eliminating the possibility of a dramatic program. The auditorium is our only available space for music and only then when not occupied by the social studies class. Our music program for approximately 500 pupils is operated by one teacher from grades one through twelve. Even with the greatest effort one teacher can do little with this number of pupils and our present facilities.

Our commercial teacher has 140 students in typing and shorthand. We do not have room nor facilities for bookkeeping, business law, filing, operation of modern business machines, and other commercial courses that could be offered.

Our Home Economics teacher has use of two small basement rooms for an enrollment of 77 girls. Large well-lighted, well-equipped rooms with modern furniture and properly decorated should be the proper setting for teaching home making. A cottage on the high school campus would enable the teacher to train the girls in house keeping.

We have one small gymnasium for our athletic program, intramural sports, boys and girls physical education and grade school recreation for their recess periods. Physical education is and should be required for all boys and girls. We do not have a qualified physical education teacher for girls now, nor shower facilities for the girls. A large physical education properly equipped for athletics and physical education is a MUST in our school if our children are expected to develop physically as well as mentally.

We have one average size class room for our science program and no provisions for our Math department. One teacher is caring for all our science program for the entire high school. Our social studies department is limited in courses because lack of room and the loss of one teacher last year.

Modern high schools have separate study halls and libraries. In our school the two occupy the same room. It is almost impossible for good work to be done under these conditions.

We could go on at length and see things that are needed. We have tried to look into the future for a long time plan. This plan will not be realized as long as we think "we can't". When we direct our thoughts in the direction of its being a necessity then and only then will it be realized. Some will say it can't be done. Our answer to that is "It can be done when we West Virginians realize that our Youth is our most important asset".

In 1936 an addition to the main building was made and steam heat was installed. In 1944 the band was organized under the supervision of Miss Margaret Johnson. In 1946 a new floor was lain in the gym and a new heating system was installed. In 1946 the lunch room was remodeled to serve the 500 pupils and personnel. The installation of freezing units in 1948 enabled the Vo-Ag students to butcher and freeze the meat served at these meals. The county Health Immunization program began about 25 years ago under the supervision of President L. C. McCutcheon and U. H. Hannah.

In 1949 the seniors established the tradition of an annual tree-planting day under the supervision of Mr. W. Blackhurst. In 1946, Green Bank High School established another tradition, the annual homecoming. In 1969 some 477 graduates attended the celebration.

In recent years stationary desks in the library have been replaced by tables and chairs; new shelves have been

In Your Honor

To You

Minnie Parg, we, the Class of 1962, proudly dedicate the MOUNTAIN BREEZE in grateful acknowledgment of your many years of service to our school.

As commercial instructor and sponsor of the senior class, you have served Green Bank High School competently and enthusiastically. The success you have achieved in your quiet, modest manner has inspired our confidence and won our affection.

Because you gave of yourself "above and beyond the call of duty" and because you have been a sincere friend, as well as a teacher, we thank you.

FOREWORD

We treasure the memories of our school life and realize that they will become even more priceless to us through the years. Perhaps through the pages of the Mountain Breeze, we can portray to others and can keep for ourselves some of our cherished memories. We present it, not as a great literary product, but simply as a picture of happy years in Green Bank High School.

It is our wish that the joy received from this book in later years will repay us for our efforts toward

DEDICATION

TO OUR PARENTS

As we look through the years, it is our parents who always form the background, the foundation for our growth. They are the ones who guided our first steps, who started us out on the first day of school, who bandaged our cuts and bruises and listened with patience to our tales of woe. Our parents are the ones who have made innumerable sacrifices for us; they are the ones who helped us over obstacles, and it is they who comforted us when our little worlds turned upside down. Therefore, in recognition and appreciation of their untiring, unending devotion, service and love, we dedicate this, our 1954 Mountain Breeze, to our best friends--OUR PARENTS.

We, the Senior Class of 1954, being in sound minds and best of health, do hereby make this our Last Will and Testament before leaving our Alma Mater, declaring all previous wills null and void.

To the Faculty, we wish to give our most humble thanks and appreciation for trying to prepare us for our future life.

To our successors, the Juniors, we will our two sponsors and the Senior Classrooms that by these they may proceed toward their future life and have as much joy in it as we have had. Also to the Juniors, we leave our Senior dignity, which they need very bad, and our intelligence, which they need much more.

To the Sophomores, we will our motto "Fools rush in where Angels fear to tread" and our good record of citizenship that we have set before them.

To the Freshmen, we will the work of rebuilding the interior parts and reputation of Green Bank High School, which we feel sure the present Juniors will tear down.

We, the Senior Girls, do will to Joyce Young a permanent standing place in front of our mirror for her remaining eight years in High School.

I, Donna Brubaker, do will my appetite to a team of horses and two hogs.

I, Barbara Blackhurst, do will my ability to gripe to Linda Samples.

I, Mary Ann Cassell, do will my giggle to Joyce Young in hopes she doesn't over do it.

I, Phyllis Greathouse, do will my good behavior to Caroline Tacy.

I, Jean Gum, do will my red hair to Joyce Waybright.

I, Barbara Nottingham, do will my ambition to anyone who can go farther than I have with it.

I, Patsy Hall, do will my love for Virginia to anyone who likes the State as well as I do.

I, Rachel McCutcheon, do will my love for cough drops to Mr. John Townsend.

I, Jane McLaughlin, refuse to will anything. I'll keep everything I have.

I, Phyllis Myers, do will my shoes to Mrs. Bailey.

I, Nancy Nicely, do will my love for Sheets' to Ramona Terry.

I, Shirley Peck, will my freckles to somebody who doesn't have enough.

I, Patty Nottingham, will my love for sailors to Bessie Simmons.

I, Jane Russell, do will my ability to crow like a rooster to the future Vo-Ag members who are taking chicken raising for a project.

I, Wilma Riley, do will my shortness to Mary Frances Gum.

I, Betty Simmons, do will my Dear stand at the top of the stairs to Nancy Gillispie.

We, Deloris and Doris Snyder, do will our majorette ability to the future majorettes of Green Bank High School.

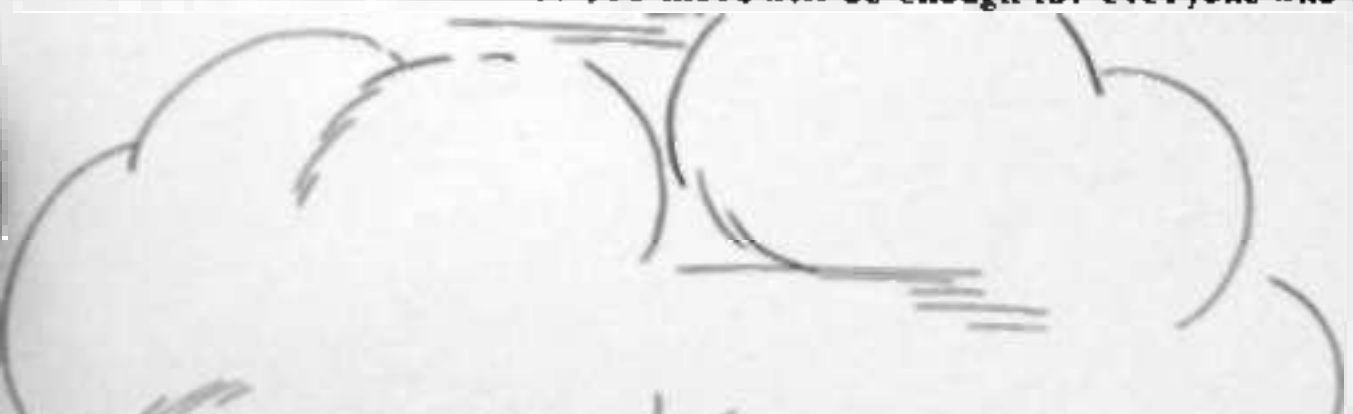

I, Dorene Simmons, do will my high scholarship rating to Marvin Moss.

I, Barbara Taylor, do will Pete Hamrick to,. . . . . No, I'll be darned if I do, I'll keep him myself.

I, Bunny Turner, will Mr. Blackhurst the best of luck at collecting Senior dues next year.

I, Margaret Vint, will my love for Mill Creek to Katherine Mullenax.

I, Nancy Judy, will my thousand and one excuses for getting into the halls the sixth period to the whole school, so there will be enough for everyone who needs one.

TESTAMENT

I, Connie Wilfong, do will my love for Galfords' to Joan Bennett.

I, Elenor Wymer, will my size and strength to next year's football team.

I, Betty Young, do will my home-coming crown to the girl that the class selects next year.

I, Joe Baylor, do will my luck at running in the Halls of Green Bank High School to anyone who can get by with it as I have the past four years.

I, Pete Hamrick, do will my love for Taylors to future tailors.

I, Bill Orndorff, do will my scholastic abilities to Kyle Cassell.

I, James Beard, do will my dreams in Sociology Class to Donald Mullenax.

I, John Harris, do will the "Purt" in my hair to "Pap."

I, Leonard Beverage, will my initials on everything in G.H.S. to future lovers who can put theirs on without erasing mine.

I, Billy Joe Cheatnut, do will my seat in Study Hall to Peggy Sheets and Marvin Moss.

We, Howard Collins and Charles Sheets, do will our front seats in Typing Class to future loafers in the Junior Class.

I, Keith Dickenson, will my magnetic attractions for women to any 10 to 12 boys in the Junior Class so there will be enough for everyone.

We, the prophets of '54, cannot give a true report of what each person will do in life, but we shall attempt to predict their future. What we saw in the crystal ball might not be true, but you may depend on it, for this magic sphere has for centuries predicted progress and failure.

As our classmates, friends, and guests danced around the Crystal Ball on May 21, 1954, the glitter and brightness wafted the class into another world--a world of the future, we were privileged to behold our classmates twenty years hence.

It was nine months ago, but we remembered it as if it were yesterday how we hurried from the room and grabbed up bits of paper on which we wrote the mystic ball's revelations.

We found Bill Orndorff as Commodore of the Pittsburgh Fleet on the Great Lake

Gary McPherson was still looking for a coaching position, and, by the wa[illegible] wife too. Good Luck, "Snaz"!!

The ball showed John Harris inspecting timber for the Mower Lumber Co[illegible] under the supervision of Chester Kinney.

We saw "Pete" Hamrick a missionary in Malaya. As a pastime "Pete" was looking for our ancestors, the "apes."

After Kirk Kerr failed his entrance exams to West Point he decided to settle on the Kerr Ranch near Arbovale, West Virginia, and raise sheep.

George Pritchard was having a hard time. After three trips to Cleveland, he still couldn't persuade a certain Redhead to come to Dunmore and raise Angus. George took the easy way out and joined the Foreign Legion.

After many attempts John Beard was still trying to fill the shoes of Caruso. His last pair of shoes wore out four years ago.

Leonard Beverage had invented a new way to process hides. He became rich and bought out the Pocahontas Tannery.

The only trace we could find of "Cider" Chestnut was that he had died of some new disease. It was a happy death though with Patsy Hall by his bedside. Patsy married three days after "Cider's" death, and has been married four times since.

Howard, like all the rest of the Collins, joined the F.B.I. He had only been with the F.B.I. for a month when he was sent out to haul in the bootlegger Charles Sheets. Howard and Charles both made history when Howard discovered Charles' 20,000 gallon still on Back Mountain.

The largest Body and Fender Repair Shop East of the Mississippi was being run by Frank Nelson, who had to do something because of his frequent wrecks.

Gilbert Rexrode, driving his hot-rod "Lizzy" at the speed of 397.45 miles per hour, broke the speed record at Bonneville Salt Flats.

If you would like to have your face lifted, just see Alfred Sutton. After going to a Beautician School Alfred set up shop on Fifth Avenue of New York.

There is not much chance that Alfred Ervin will lose the title of Light Wei[illegible] Champion of the world. He won this title in his first match and after twenty more matches he still holds it.

We saw Jennings Wright as the inventor of the new Chlorophyll Jiffy Diaper--double your money back if the diapers leak, stain, or tear. Betty Simmons is busy "wrighting" that these are the best diapers on the market.

The ball showed us Dr. Elbert Whanger, who is noted for his very painless way of extracting false teeth.

President Warren Slavens was riding in triumph throughout the U.S. with First Lady Doris Snyder at his side.

Keith Dickenson went bad right after graduation. It has been reported lately that he is a Communist spy in Siberia.

Dr. Robert Neighbors and Nurse Phyllis Greathouse working side by side discovered a new vaccine for polio.

Bill Galford, the world's famed jockey, won the Kentucky Derby for the second year in succession, riding the famous horse, "Fle-Bite."

Jake Galford and his company of mountain climbers failed to reach the peak of Mt. Everest on their fourth attempt.

After taking lessons from Ralph Lowe for a year, Forrest Grogg is "Back In the Saddle Again" strummin' on the Ole' Banjo.

We saw Don Yates acting as Toastmaster on W.K.A.Y.--T.V. Co-starring Don was the old time favorite Jane Russell.

PHECY

Manager of the Cleveland Indians, Joe Baylor, steered his team to a seat in the World's Series.

Mock talked about "Moon" Hiner was leaving for Mars, we lost track of him 19,000 miles out and haven't seen or heard of him since.

The W. V. U. Mountaineers entered our picture; being very lucky to have on their team Ronald Gladden, who broke all scoring records in West Virginia.

Succeeding Walter Jell as county agent of Pocahontas County we find George Moore. George made a name for himself when he discovered the way for killing Crab grass.

Bob Vance and "Bunny" Turner went to the Everglades five years ago in search of a new kind of Lizard, they are still there, at least we hope they are.

Deloris Snyder is making her income by giving her permanents in Virginia. She is wearing a wig now after experimenting on herself.

Jane McLaughlin is a Professor at the New York University, teaching the Art of Friendship.

"Rollin' in the money is Marg Vint, who runs the Gamblin' Joint in Las Vegas, Nevada.

Holding the World's Record for the fastest flight around the world is Elenor Wynne. Elenor made her flight in a Helicopter.

Dorothy Simmons was on a trip to Berlin and got on a "big spree." She accidentally "staggered" over the boundary line into East Berlin and was shot down instantly by Communist Police.

We find Betty Young touring the Eastern United States. She won this tour as a prize from winning the County Fair Pie Contest. It wasn't hard for the Judges to make their decision for Betty's was the only pie entered for competition.

Wilma Riley's ability to cook has landed her a job as well as many boys. She is working as Home Economist for the Monogahela Power Company.

Donna Drinkaker is living the life of a movie star. She has starred in many movies, her latest one being "Hugs and Horses, Who Could Eat the Most." Donna's private secretary, Nancy Judy, is holding Donna and her weight down since her three marriages. Many stars are after Nancy for their secretary, but she has decided to stay with her old classmate.

After inventing the new hair dye--Stay Red, Jean Gum has more money than she knows how to use.

After being bitten by a Cobra Snake, and still being alive, Connie Wilfong decided her life's ambition was to trap snakes.

As a member of the U.S.O. Club, Shirley Peck is now overseas entertaining and singing for the G.I.'s.

Phyllis Myers is still clinging to her native state as director of the State Insane Asylum.

Sailing off the shores of Africa is Patty Nottingham, the first woman Admiral of the United States Navy.

MISS MINNIE PARG

MRS. VIRGINIA POSCOVER

We dedicate this 1955 Mountain Breeze to those who have been the influence in our lives these past four years---our teachers. Miss Parg. Mrs. Poscover and Mr. Blackhurst. With their help we have risen from doubtful, uncertain primary students, to confident, intelligent seniors, with the ambition to strive for a place in this busy world. They have outlined for us a successful past and a promising future. So, to Miss Parg, Mrs. Poscover, and Mr. Blackhurst, who have so generously shared their knowledge, wisdom, and hours of hard work with us, we humbly dedicate this annual.

OUR LEAVINS

Once we bin hyar foe yrs. we done got together a [illegible] we got to git shed of to the following people.

The whole Senior Class leaves Miss Parg there blessin. It'll encourage her with them Juniors.

We're leavin to the Juniors a mighty big vacent place whar them pore nitwits can't fill.

We leave to Mr. Harris the hope that someday he'll have a class thats as good as weuns.

To the skinnoy little Freshmen, we leave a powerful good example.

We leave Phil Davis lock, stock and barrel to Dolly Nelson.

We leave Tom Wyatt to that there McLaughlin girl. She's done got him properly whupped.

Peggy (tight-wad) Sheets is gonna keep Marvin Moss, she ain't gonna give away nothin.

Jim Sutton leaves his number 13 shoes to MAUST COAL COMPANY for a barge.

MOUNTAIN BREEZ

Foreword

To perpetuate the memories of Green Bank High School, which we shall always cherish and revere; and to record for ourselves and posterity a complete episode in the life of a growing institution, has been our purpose.

It is equally difficult for a year book staff to produce a yearbook that measures up to each individual's ideals. Some will expect to look to the staff for a yearbook that neither insults their ability by seeking too little nor discourages them by seeking too much. It was for this latter group 1953 Mountain Breeze was completed. If after graduation nostalgia sets in, peruse this volume of words and pictures to rekindle the memories of yester year. May these pages reawaken fond memories of by gone days spent within these surroundings.

...Education In Greenbank Distric

THE FIRST SCHOOL in the vicinity of Greenbank was erected in 1780. It was a typical pay scho of that period; the fee was paid by boarding the teacher a certain length of time, according to t number of scholars in the school.

As Greenbank became a larger place than a one-house-town, a school was erected below the to at what was then known as the Crossroads, and named after the location. The school lasted until year 1820, and then a school was built on what is now the property of John R. Gum which was t known as Cartmill Creek. This school served the purpose of educating the pioneer children for a cade or more.

As churches were built with better regard to the density of the people, the session rooms bec the school houses, the session room of Liberty Church being one of the most important in Greenb Community. The session room schools were usually taught by the pastor, and if the pastor did teach, outside teachers would teach a term of three months for a dollar a scholar if there wer many as ten scholars.

The session room schools lasted until 1842, when the Greenbank Academy was erected where Odd Fellows Lodge Hall now stands in Greenbank. This was the first free school and was first ta by Professor Benjamin Arbogast who had influenced the founding of it. The usual number atter was from sixty-five to seventy-five. This school was part of the Academy program of the County w called for the erection of three academies: at Greenbank, Huntersville, and Hillsboro. These t buildings were of brick and were the most modern buildings in the County. Most of the people in Gr bank District sent their children to this school. These scholars boarded at Greenbank for there no method of conveyance from the more distant homes.

When a student had finished this school he could attend Institute for a week, and then pass given and prepared by the County Superintendent and become qualified for a teaching position. G bank District had its own Board of Education at that time, so the teachers went before them to q for a job. But they had to have as many as two trustees of the three to sign their contract befo job was forthcoming; the salary being about sixty dollars per month.

A few months after the Civil War, the building was remodeled and changed to a two-storie and renamed the "Advanced School." It had a high standard of education.

The old Academy served until 1916; the last session being taught by C. E. Flynn, who lat came County Superintendent. Its place was taken by the High School.

In the year 1916, John W. Goodsell, President of the Board of Education, with the aid Leland Moomau, founded the Greenbank High School with the graded school being in the same ing. The first levy of money called for enough money to build the part known a few years ago high school part, which extended from the front of the building to the present end of the presе At first high school and grades were taught in the same part, but as enrollment increased the ing was extended to the beginning of the gymnasium, and a few years later the gym and the above it were erected. This last was completed in 1926.

Quite a dispute was aroused over the location of the building, so it was submitted to a p vote. The main condidates for the election were Cass, Dunmore, Durbin, and Greenbank, w latter coming in ahead with a fair majority.

The first term of school opened in the fall of 1918 with a small enrollment. The first pr was W. P. Haught of Bristol, W. Va., with Miss Lucy Meredith, Margaret Hunt, and Lillian M as assistants.

The first graduate of the school in 1919 was Grace Curry, who had attended Marlinton fo years. In the year 1920, there were five graduates: Virginia Dare Moomau, Helen Beard, Beard, Lillian Beard, and Lucille Oliver. In 1921 there were ten graduates, fifteen in 1922, fo in 1923, nineteen in 1924, and so on.

N. Phay Taylor, the second principal, was succeeded by T. P. Harwood, who served sinc as principal. Mr. Harwood was replaced in 1931 by John Roach who served four years. In Claude A. McMillion became principal and served until his death in the spring of 1945, wh Mack Brooks, Assistant County Superintendent, served until the end of the term. In the fall o Mr. Virgil B. Harris of Gassaway, W. Va., became principal and has served ever since.

Brief Highlights: Basketball started early in the school's history; football not until 1926

[illegible]CK: has been successful in the chicken [illegible] now is owners and president of the "Brock [illegible] in Dunmore, West Virginia. His hens specialize in different colored eggs, ready for Easter.

BOB GILL: started to Medicine School and quit; since then has served two prison terms and is on his way to his third term because he likes the free board. Still single and a disgrace to the Gill family.

CALVIN GALFORD: is president of the Wormhole Lumber Company at Dunmore, West Virginia.

BILL GAINER: joined the Mormon Church so that he could have all the women he wanted and is now a Missionary in the Belgium Congo.

JULIAN GILLESPIE: lives on a large farm in the swamps of Florida where he raises web-footed goats which can swim like ducks.

JACK GRAGG: brightest of the class has never amounted to anything. Started to college (to be a lawyer) and quit to become a hobo, since then has searched for Rock Candy Mountain and hasn't worn a pair of socks in nine years.

DONALD GROGG: has been a home boy since out of high school, married a girl from Marlinton settled down on the Grogg Farm and has been a good citizen since.

DONALD GUM: after eight years in the Army of good conduct, high scholastic ability and many other good qualities is now a P. F. C.

DONALD LAMBERT: after getting discharged from the army was married and settled down in Painsville, Ohio where his wife supports him.

HAROLD LAMBERT and JULIAN NOTTINGHAM: have a good Moonshining business built up in this state. They have been pretty good on the prices but have a large company built up in upper Pocohantas County. The "moonshine" here today is the finest quality.

EUGENE NELSON, has broken into the Curry family by way of matrimony. Eugene has made good in the forestry field and now is supervisor of "Rocky National Park" of Wyoming. He is so interested in forestry that their first child's nose looks like a woodpeckers bill.

CHARLES RYDER: besides being engaged to Thelma Hoover at the present has announced that he will again compete for "Mr. America of 1964".

JIMMIE RYDER: is a salesman for the "Armstrong Heater Company" and always prefers female customers for a better demonstration.

BUDDY SIMMONS: is now living in Baltimore and married to a girl from New Jersey. He is working for the Glen L. Martin Company.

HOWARD SLAVENS: practicing first-aid and usually on himself since Betty is the "World Champion Woman Wrestler."

IVAN SUTTON: is the "still-guard" and cleaner for the [illegible]

DELORISE WRIGHT: one of the few class members to remain around the Green Bank District and has married a woodsman from Cass. She has also raised three fine healthy young boys and is still working at the Mower Lumber Company Store.

LYLE TAYLOR: is a real citizen of this community and one who was a great help in making this reunion a success by being "Janitor" of G. H. S. and chief judge in the moonshine-drinking contest sponsored by Lambert-Nottingham Moonshining Companies.

KERTH GUM: hasn't married any girl yet but is now over at the picnic tables flirting with Elva June Phillips telling her about being a cigar tester for the "blue tip" Cigar Company.

CHARLES BRYANT: is one of the few members of our class to have to depart from life, but he died happy. He went west to California and married a wealthy and beautiful movie star who showed him too fast a life. His last words were, "The only thing that I hate to depart life for is that I won't be able to attend the class reunion."

JERRY CRIST: after playing with the West Virginia All-Stars for seven years, has played with the Hamlin Globetrotters professional basketball team for two years. His title is "Mr. Basketball."

BETTY BENNETT: after raising eleven children by the old time method finally made a fortune by inventing nylon diapers.

FRANCES BREWSTER: was a sad case indeed, she met tragedy in Baltimore, Md. in 1957 murdered by the noted "Black-Scarf Gang." Prior to her death she was a "gripy" telephone operator for three years in Baltimore.

CHARLOTTE CASSELL: was just elected first woman governor of West Virginia by defeating Sam Galford (wealthiest cattleman in West Virginia) by a large majority. Her first act was to jail Sam on an act of spending too much money on his campaign. "At last I'll know where Sam is," says Charlotte.

JULIA CURRY and LEWIS MACE: will be married in five years after a whirlwind courtship which began in high school back in 1950. They don't believe in short engagements.

GLADY SAMPSON: died of starvation in 1960 because her relief check of $200 a month would not feed her.

JUNIOR VANDEVANDER: proves you can't be awakened on "Beauty Rests". He earns a high salary for testing mattresses for the "Beauty Rest mattress Company". You couldn't wake him up in school either.

THELMA HOOVER: has been married three times and has just gotten back from Reno, after getting her third divorce. She is now engaged to Charles Ryder, a lawyer who specilizes in divorces for a living. She says "divorces are cheaper by the dozen."

MILDRED LAMBERT: still likes the "Wafs", but instead is baking waffles for about five children and a husband who receives a monthly relief check.

SHIRLEY MURPHY: has just set up her own private detective agency along with her husband, "Mr. Hawkshaw" another famous detective who has retired from the F.B.I...Shirley has also quit her job as an F.B.I. agent.

ELVA JUNE PHILLIPS: is the only girl of the class to

Last Will and Testament

The members of the Senior Class of 1953 in good health and possessed of solid heads do make and execute this our will and testimony before leaving Green Bank High School. We hereby warn any person who may try to break or alter this will that in such case we shall haunt him to the edge of the grave itself and reap vengeance upon him too horrible to describe in words.

Our distinguished place in the high school we will to a group known as the Junior Class. We place upon them the responsibility of maintaining the school reputation as well as we have done in the past. To the afore mentioned class we also leave two home rooms to be theirs during the year 1953-54. In addition to the Juniors we leave two class sponsors now residing in Mental Institutions due to causes beyond our control. Also to you, Juniors, we may bequeath any present Senior who flunks and fails to graduate.

To the Sophomores, our sister class, we leave our richest blessing with a sincere hope that you will re-establish the school reputation which the present Juniors will doubtless destroy. We also leave to you Sophomores our past records to serve as inspirations to you in your future struggles.

To the present Freshmen Class, now past our authority for the first year, we bequeath a measure of dignity that you may properly fill the place of Sophomores. To you also we leave a picture of the class of '53 framed in the hall that you may gaze upon it each day and set for yourself a high idea of becoming such Seniors.

To the Faculty of the school, we leave a belated thanks for all you've tried to do for us and if it will help you out any we advise the lower classmen to study a lot harder than we did.

Our athletic record we leave to all teams in the future to gaze upon in admiration, our scholastic record we leave to----------, let's just not say any more about it. The beautiful carved initials you will find on the desks in the various classrooms standing for our worthy names we leave to posterity and unborn generations.

The old gym we will to Green Bank for the next 40 years feeling certain we'll never get another. The peanut box known as the auditorium we leave to the Dramatic Department as the best we can offer, if you want more room have outdoor plays. The cracks around the windows we leave to the hoot owls for free and unhindering passage in and out the rooms. Such incidentals as hall radiators, desk corners, and secluded chairs we leave to the first true love couples who get to them in the fall of '53.

To Mr. Harris, we have nothing to leave but we are asking Santa Clause to bring him a new loud speaker system and a bright red wig.

To every one concerned in Green Bank High School we leave our blessings and to the high school we leave our sincere hopes for a future success far greater than the past.

Signed and witnessed--
SENIOR CLASS OF '53

After being separated for ten years the Class of 1953 have come together today, July 4, 1963, at the new remodeled Green Bank High School for a class reunion.

There have been many changes in the Class of 1953, some expected, but others on the recent standing of the class I herewith give it accurately as I am able to attain it.

CHARLES BROCK: has been successful in the chicken business and now is owner and president of the "Brock Hatchery" of Dunmore, West Virginia. His hens specialize in different colored eggs, ready for Easter.

BOB DILL: started to Medicine School and quit; since then has served two prison terms and is on his way to his third term because he likes the free board. Still single and a disgrace to the Dill family.

CALVIN GALFORD: is president of the Wormhole Lumber Company at Dunmore, West Virginia.

BILL GAINER: joined the Morman Church so that he could have all the women he wanted and is now a Missionary in the Belgium Congo.

JULIAN GILLISPIE: lives on a large farm in the swamps of Florida where he raises web-footed goats which can swim like ducks.

The annual Senior Play was a real event in the lives of the seniors. The three act comedy "Along Came Kilroy" by J. Dan Fairman offered character parts to fit the most exacting. All parts of the twelve except three were characterizations which offered real opportunity for acting.

ALONG CAME KILROY

The performance, given April 17, went off smoothly. The audience in general expressed high praise for the play as a whole and for the individual actors.

There were no outstanding stars. Instead each member of the cast turned in an excellent performance and everything balanced.

The term of school for 1952-53 was started on Sept 8. We are certainly glad to see such a wonderful class of freshmen. They seem to realize that the upperclassmen are welcoming them to the school. Of course, we all have our part to play as Freshmen when we enter high school. Again, we cordially welcome the Class of Freshmen to Green Bank High School.

Students Go to Mill

Those students who were at Jackson's Mill for the state roundup were: Kirk Kerr, Jimale Oliver, Donald Nottingham, Forrest Gregg, and Charlotte Cassell. Those students placed high standards in their showing. They are to be congratulated.

WHAT TREES MEAN TO YOU

Recreation-steady jobs-lumber and plywood for homes and furniture - pulpwood for paper-taxes to support schools and government. Protected and wisely managed forests mean all these and more. They mean insurance for water supplies and hillsides free from erosion. These are some reasons why people should always be careful with fire in the woods.

Green forests are an American heritage. Picnics in the woods-the tangy smoke of a carefully watched campfire - hiking - hunting - fishing - all are part and parcel of healthful outdoor recreation to millions every year. Americans can both use and keep their forests always if they protect them from fire and harvest them wisely.

FOREWORD

Memory is ever fleeting but as the years come and go we would like the memories of this school to grow fonder.

With this in mind we have attempted to give a glimpse of people and activities. By turning the pages of this book, the many phases of this book, the many phases of our school life will remain in memories just like a melody.

CONTENTS

To our parents who are always wit spirit and support. You, Mother and Da our guiding light. We proudly dedica book to you.

DEDICATION

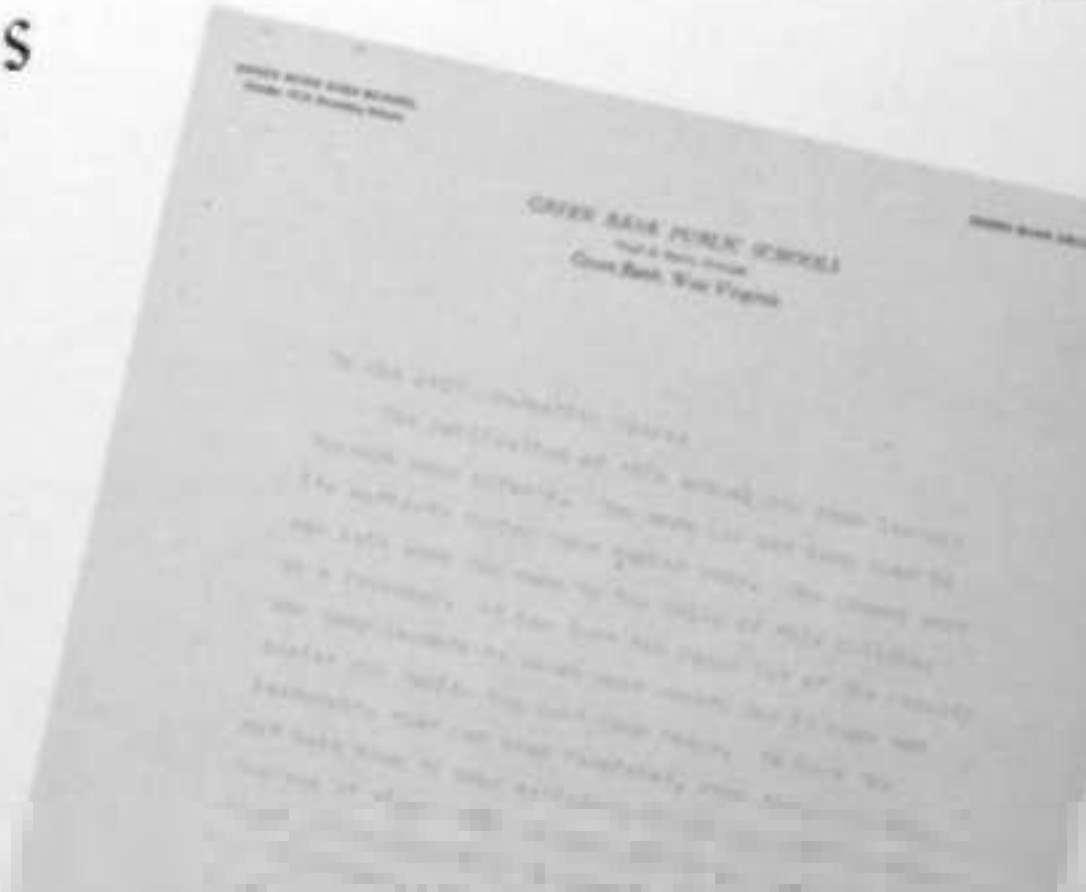

And, to Jerry Gillisipie, a classmate, who cannot be with us, but who will never be forgotten.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

Virgil A. Harris, Principal

Green Bank, West Virginia

To the 195[illegible] Graduating Class:

The publication of this annual has been largely through your efforts. The work has not been done in its entirety during your senior year. The ground-work was lain when you came to the halls of this building as a freshman. It has been the happy lot of the faculty and your parents to watch your growth and in some way assist you during the past four years. What ever leadership that has been furnished, even though it may not have been to your satisfaction and according to your desires at times, will in some measure be a stepping stone toward a successful adult life for you.

On behalf of the faculty, underclassmen and myself, I salute you on a job well done and hope that your annual may be a means of bringing back pleasant memories of your years here when it is not possible for you to visit your school in person.

Sincerely,

I, Charles Peck will my special formula permanent to John Boaley, but I plan to keep the red dye. Helen Mullenax leaves to go to Staunton next summer and anyone can take her place in the halls of GBHS. John Gillispie wills his beard to someone with a good razor. John Gainer decided not to will Edith Dilley to anyone. Thurman Sampson leaves his football ability to Johnnie Davis. Ellouise Curry wills her good behavior to her brother Franklin with sincere hope that he has more luck with it than she did. Ben Gragg wills his snazzy Buick to the Junior girls. Glenda Phillips leaves her seat on the bus (she sits between four teachers) to Louise Barkley. Allen Mahaffey wills his "hot-rodding" to Ernie McLaughlin. Tom Gainer wills his seat in Chemistry to anyone that will buy his book. Carol Oliver wills her long blond hair to Ruby Nelson. David Nelson wills his golden voice to Elvis Presley. Edward Sheets wills his curly hair to Freddie Moss. Carolyn Carpenter wills her love for sports to Earlene Wilfong. Betty Oliver wills her height to Ralph Moore. Retha Galford leaves her daily discussions with Mr. Stewart to some poor chemistry student next year. Georgia Rexrode wills her love for boys to Roberta Rankin. Mary Ryder wills her English to the Junior English Class. Thelma Vannoy leaves her red hair, quick temper, and good grades to any underclassman who might find that combination useful. Elmer Workman wills his "tall, dark, and handsomeness" to Jake Tallman. Judy McLaughlin wills all the Senior money to some poor cuss to handle next year. I, Betty Lou Taylor will John Gillispie to----No! I'll be darned if I do. Dolly Nelson wills her laughing to Kenny McLaughlin. Carol Galford wills her car to John Moore so he can get tickets. Sam Tyson wills his seat on the Cass boys bus to some poor unsuspecting soul who'll get it next year. Mary Geiger wills her ability to stay out of trouble to her brother, James. (Poor boy!) Jim Simmons wills his basketball uniform to Chester Cassell. Jackie Rexrode wills her ability to break hearts to Jo Anne Rose. Phil Kerr would leave his sideburns, but it takes too long to grow them. Sandy Hevenor wills her musical ability to Geraldine Nottingham. Chester Cromer leaves his good grades to Gene Tallman. Frances Nicholas is on her way to Hollywood to assist Donald O'Connor in the Francis series.

Betty Oliver is working in an "olive" factory. Carol Oliver is working as Marilyn Monroe's assistant secretary. Tom Gainer is taking "Simmons Vitamin Pills" so he can grow. Johnnie Gillispie has obtained a fortune from his miracle product, "Longer Beards in Seven Days". Ben Cragg believe it or not, is reading a book on "How to Become a Big Success." Phil Kerr the great singer is in New York where he has recorded his latest hit, "Oh Susanna." Bill Kinney is driving his hot-rod Ford, wearing black denium trousers, and motorcycle boots headed for Hollywood. David Nelson is using one of his greatest inventions an automobile with a jet propeller. Allen Mahaffey is a door to door salesman trying to sell "Bobbi" permanents. Charles Peck has black hair but he still hasn't discovered a solution to make it straight. Carl

We, the Class of 1952, sincerely dedicate this 1952 Mountain Breeze to the memory of our dear friend and former classmate Frances Helmick, who died March 1, 1949.

"To live in hearts we leave behind is not to die."

Education

The first school in the vicinity of Green Bank was established in 1780; it was a typical school of that period. In 1820, meeting the community growth, the citizens established a scho the John A. Gum property, known as Cartmill Creek.

As churches were built with regard to the density of people, the session rooms became schools. The pastor or a visiting teacher served three months for a dollar a pupil if there we many as ten scholars.

The first free school was the Green Bank Academy, established in 1842. Professor Ber Arbogast, who influenced the founding of the school, served as the first instructor. The school part of the academy program of the country, which called for the exception of three academ Green Bank, Huntersville, and Hillsboro. After graduation from the academy and attending fo for a week, a student could qualify for a teaching position by passing a test given and prepa the County Superintendent. Green Bank District had its own Board of Education at that time, applicants went before the Board to qualify for the position.

Following the close of the Civil War the building was remodeled and renamed the "Ad School." This school served until 1916, when its place was taken by the high school. T session was taught by C. E. Flynn, who became County Superintendant.

In 1916, John W. Goodsell, President of the Board of Education with the aid of Dr. Moomau founded the Green Bank High and Graded School. The first levy of money was su to build the part known as the high school part. At first the high school and grades were the same part of the building, but as enrollment increased, the building was extended to the ing of gymnasium. In 1926, the gymnasium addition was erected.

The first school term opened in the fall of 1918 with a small enrollment. The first p was W. P. Haught of Bristol, W. Va. With Misses Lucy Meredith, Margaret Hunt, and Moomau. The first graduate in 1919 was Grace Curry.

N. Phay Taylor, the second principal, was succeeded by T. P. Harwood, who served fou In 1936, Claude McMillion became principal and served until his death in the spring of 194 Mr. Mack Brooks, Assistant County Superintendant, served until the end of the term. In of 1945, Mr. Virgil R. Harris of Gassaway became principal and has served since.

Basketball was organized early in the schools history; football not until 1926. Home mics was installed about three years after founding the school. The Future Homemakers o organized in 1930 and is one of the oldest in the state. In 1930, a separate Vocational tural building was constructed; the following year, the bus garage. The hot lunch program troduced about fifteen years ago.

In 1936 an addition to the main building was made, and steam heat was installed. the band was organized. In 1940 a new floor was laid in the gym and a new heating syst introduced. In 1946 the lunch room was remodeled to serve the 500 pupils and personne installation of freezing units in 1948 enabled the Vo-ag students to butcher and freeze th served at these meals. Mrs. Rachel Wooddell continues to supervise this program. The Health Immunization program began about 24 years ago under the supervision of Presiden McCutcheon and U. H. Hannah.

In 1949 the seniors established the tradition of an annual tree-planting day. In 1946, Bank High School established another tradition, the annual homecoming. In 1951 some 2 duates attended the celebration.

Our Second Homecoming dance held in our gumnasium climaxed our Homecoming a A delightful time was had by all. Anna Mae Moore and Richard Meador reigned aas G. H. and Queen.

The highlights of our senior year were the days we received our class rings, cards, a ments, senior pictures, and the Senior party.

Two of our members, Linda Cassell and Yvonne Gilmore, represented our school in Chorus at Bluefield in April.

In April we presented our annual senior play. Some of us were members of the c others had the responsibility of management and production.

We followed up the campaign of a very successful basketball season.

We deeply appreciated the Prom given to us by the Juniors. This was a big social the memories of it will always remain in our hearts.

Senior Play

The Senior Play "Dead of the Night" by James Reach was presented April 18. T mystery centering around a spy ring during our troubled times was well received by

Each of the characters performed his part well. There was no comment on the one or another. Rather the comment was "well rounded performance."

The corn field is a battleground.
The corn shocks soldiers tall and brave.
The trees are flags of the armies.
Acorns, the bullets fired by some young knave.
The wind is the loyal trumpeter.
The pumpkin the head of some poor slave.
Red leaves are the soldier's own life blood;
Snow brings a blanket o'er their grave.

Green Bank, We

FOREWORD

The members of the staff are exceedingly proud to submit the Mountain Breeze of 1956. As it is a product of hard but loving labor, it is hoped it will be appreciated fully; for the staff has put forth much effort.

In this Annual we have tried to make the events of the past years stand out as climaxes to very happy school activities, many to be well remembered as time goes on.

Also we wish to express our appreciation for the help and co-operation of Johnny Davis, a sophomore boy, who has done the art work for our Annual.

With the hope that everyone will enjoy this book as much as we have enjoyed the creation of it, we present the 1956 Mountain Breeze.

CARTOO

FIRST LINEMEN

1. BROWN CASSELL - Senior-Quarter Back- 3 years- Captain- All-State 3rd Team. One of the finest quarter backs in the history of football at Green Bank High School.

CLASS WILL

This last will and testament is made by the members of the graduating class of Green Bank High School in the year of our Lord, 1956.

I, Helen Brown, will my size to Dolly Nelson. We, Ruth Collins and Mary Ellen Nicely, give the boys from Circleville any girl who can get as many beaus as we can.

I, Georgie Curry, leave Sue Ervine and Elouise Curry my A's in Conduct, for that is the only way they will ever get them.

I, Charlotte Dahmer, bequeath my knowledge of chemistry to next year's seniors.

I, Ruth Ann Grogg, will nothing--everything I have - want; that includes Murrel.

I, Maxine Harmon, bequeath my love for money and new cars to anyone who can combine both and have as much fun as I have had.

I, Colleen Hughes, will my hours of study in MacBeth to the seniors of 1956-57; for if they don't improve, they certainly will need it.

I, Nancy Jackson, will my sense of humor to quiet Ellouise Nicholas.

I, Mona Kelley, bestow my craziness upon Mary Ellen Colaw.

I, Gladys Lambert, leave my size to my sister, Doris.

I, Jean Lambert, will my engagement ring to Maxine Harmon for future use.

I, Shirley Lambert, do bequeath to Mary Ryder my typewriter on which I hope she has better luck than I did.

I, Cora Lee McLaughlin, will my love for the "Copperheads" to Carolyn Carpenter in hopes that she will make good use of it!!!

PROGNOSTICATIONS

1. Caroline Tacy still isn't an old woman at the age of 60; we now see her coming into the ring as the world's champion bull fighter.

2. In 5 years we see Peggy Ann Tharp as a law abiding citizen. (we think it is because she married a cop.) Right now she is busy with several little troopees for the future police force.

3. After 10 years we see Joyce Rexrode still raising Dill Pickles, but, unfortunately, not for factory use.

4. Ruth Ann Grogg won the Miss America title for 1968, and Murrel died from rejoicing.

5. Nancy Jackson died at a ripe old age from starvation by depending on D. P. A.

6. Ella Mae Shields hasn't been seen for ages, so we guess she is still looking for the Fountain of Youth.

7. Mona Kelly will soon be promoted to foreman of the Mechanic Department in a rayon plant.

8. Evyleen Murphy will soon have the strength to win a box of cigars by ringing the bell at the Fair.

9. Cora Lee McLaughlin has been spending her leisure hours inventing wings for cars.

10. After completing 10 years in a beautician's school, Jean Lambert is Marlon Brando's hairdresser.

11. Maxine Harmon was guest for $64,000 question in 1960. Since she was so inclined to want money, she stole the safe instead of trying to answer the question.

12. Ruth Ann Rankin is going to Manhattan Island to be a ferry boat operator.

13. Shirley Lambert is going to be first baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers.

14. Gladys Lambert is getting a job at the Tannery so she can be with Chub more often.

Dear Green Bank High School we love you
And to your colors will e'er be true;
Our colors stand for fighting students and this is what we say;
Rah! for Green Bank High School;
Blue is our color for loyalty
Gold stands for sports pure and clean,
We fight to win and we love our fellows;
Dear Green Bank High School team.

Foreword

To the class of '59 we proudly submit this an which records precious memories and ideals of G Bank High School.

In the future as we look through the lens of telescope we will recall many friendships whic acquired during our happy years at Green Bank School.

Dedication

"Our Special Angel" best describes Miss Patsy Fields who is behind some of our school activities that are worth while. Students in the past as well as present have benefited by her knowledge that she has revealed to them earnestly. Still others have gained through her endless efforts with the annual and our school paper.

If it be Journalism, English II, Civics or Sociology she is always there—not in a

Virgil B. Harris, Principal

Green Bank, West Virginia

The School will preserve this book which will serve as a record of some of th things that you have done during the past four years. You have barely started th foundation for the requirements to enter into a society that may seem strange to you Your adjustment in this society will depend, in a large measure, upon the trainin you have been willing to accept during the past four years. The task is yours. You future happiness will depend upon your seriousness of purpose when you get out int this society, and your willingness to put forth an honest effort to do your bit. Th returns from any investment is in direct proportion to the amount of the investment I suggest that you do your part and you will receive ample returns. If you "do little you may expect small returns.

OUR SENIOR CLASS

(Tune: "My Native Land")

Our Senior Class, how sweet it seems,
Accomplishment of youthful dreams;
The shining goal attained at last,
As grade by grade we've reached and passed.

Our years of studying behind,
Of doing schoolroom work assigned;
So long it took our class to build
The dream that is today fulfilled.

Our Senior Class, how glorious,
The records show one hundred-plus;
Beloved of every senior heart,
And still beloved when school ways part.

Enduring friendships we have made,
Together keeping grade by grade;
What happy pages they will be,
Bound in our book of memory.

Our Senior Class, the seniors' toast!
Our Senior Class, the seniors' boast!
Our Senior Class, forever dear
As now in this our senior year.

HISTORY

THE RICHEST MANSION I've ever entered is the chamber of my memories. Now strolling through the bright corridor I'm very anxious to enter this room nearest me. Beauty greets me on every hand—silver, gold, velvet, and jewels each play a part in this wonder room. A green velvet box is right beside me in all the brilliant decorations of this enchanting place: opening the lid I find in the beds of satin a bright sparkling jewel. I pick this precious stone up and stand in amusement as the many lights reflect various pictures to me.

Among these I see in 1942 approximately 96 girls and boys entering Greenbank High School as Freshmen. We are typical Freshmen—green as far as this experience goes, scared and quite awkward in our daily tasks. Helping us become accustomed to our new routine we find Mr. C. A. McMillion, our late kind principal and many dear teachers who found and won places in our hearts as well as our memories. Our sponsors were Mrs. Coyner and Mrs. Foulks. The intelligent group we found to be Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores have to some extent, begun to seem as one of us. We decided the time was at hand to elect leaders for our class and we chose for President, Albert Ash; Vice-President, Ted Shinaberry; Secretary, Mary Anne Gillespie; Treasurer, Amil Ervin; Representatives, Jeanne and Joanne Cover, and Cheerleader, Beulah Dahmer. Some of the girls of our class have shown an interest for home-making by accepting the invitation to join "The Future Homemakers Club." The dreaded initiation proved to be more fun than misery and we were taken into the club in a beautiful ceremony. Athletics appealed to most of the boys and we knew success would result. The F. F. A. Club won boys interested in farming, these were initiated and became proud members of this club, sporting their emblems as proof. Rooter's Club, Glee Club, Commercial Club, and 4-H Club were other activities. The school was closed once for repairs. To top the end of this year of pain and pleasure were the Home Ec, F.F.A., Class and School parties. Vacation time was at hand and we realized this year hadn't been as bad as we had imagined.

As I put this stone back into its place, I am aware of a very happy feeling, but my eye is attracted to a larger box and I open it, finding a bigger, more brilliant stone than before, its reflections richer—

We returned to school, glad to see the new friends we had made the year before, and anxious to make the most of our Sophomore year, aware our color isn't as green as last year. The officers that helped us through this year were: President, Ted Shinaberry; Vice-President, Albert Ash; Secretary, Ida Hiner; Treasurer, Amil Ervin; Representative and Cheerleader, Beulah Dahmer. Our sponsors for this time were Mrs. McMillion and Mr. Jefferson. A few members of our class and a few teachers were missing, but we became better acquainted with the remaining ones. Also, some new students and teachers were heartily welcomed. We had our usual activities, interesting classes and experiences. One such experience may have been an extended Christmas vacation due to stormy weather. Another one was initiating new members into our clubs. Some of our boys received their football and basketball letters. The music class presented an extremely good musical program. We had occasional movies, assemblies, and again our parties to add stardust to our memories. How soon it seemed but vacation was here once more.

Replacing this gem I knew I had added another rich year to my life. Now another box held me spellbound as I stood on tip-toe to reach it and unclasp the lock. This lovely, lovely jewel was even more enchanting than the other two. I stood breathless as I looked at its size and beauty. The reflection it cast glowed all over Play "Henpecked Hurband"; both very, very good. Uncle Sam we find has seen fit to claim some of our classmates. Our beloved principal, Mr. C. A. McMillion, died in April and a new emotion of a vast vacancy existed in all hearts. Mr. Mack Brooks acted as principal the remainder of the year. The dream of a band came true this year, under the direction of Miss Johnson, and several of our members joined. In the spring with our parties came the Junior-Senior party, a very beautiful and memorable occasion. Some of our class were usherettes and ushers at the graduation exercises. School was once more at an end.

I pondered a while before putting this stone back, but I was very thankful to have the jewel in my possession. The largest box of all these, was higher up than the rest. It wasn't necessary to open it because with a glance I observed it was open and it was hard for me to believe such a glorious, beautiful thing could actually exist. Standing in an enchanted place I watched the next and last procession of pictures in the cuts of this precious gem.

In this, a great year, again we met at school — forty-seven Seniors — under the new direction of Mr. Virgil B. Harris of Gassaway, our new principal. The world was at a nearer peace than in the latter three or four years and this alone was a blessing. We discovered quite a few changes being made, and we made the necessary adjustments. The days quickly came and went, and then we decided on our rings, calling cards and invitations. We had our Senior Party. Nimmie Ralston was again elected President of our class; Harold Wooddell, Vice-President; Ida Hiner, Secretary; Henrietta Ralston, Treasurer; Gertrude Cales, Representative, and Beulah Dahmer, Cheerleader. The fine sponsors that saw us through this year were Mr. Blackhurst and Mrs. McMillion. This is the year we see everyone as we should have seen them long ago. Mr. Harris won our hearts as did our other teachers and classmates. The busy season of football and basketball arrived, and the remaining boys got their letters. Old GHS played in the semi-finals at the tournament. Putting out the paper and the yearbook was a new experience for most of us, under the direction of Mrs. Williams, this year it was our turn and responsibility and without a doubt many were learned. Once again we were able to have a President's Ball to raise funds for infantile paralysis. This was a big, big success and leaves very pleasant memories for most of us. We find so many things this year that add bits of paradise to our memories. Getting our rings was a big day, writing on our cards for classmates and friends, having others to write in our memory books each add another charm to our Senior year. Getting to dance in Physical Education made most of us very happy, and Dramatic Class which started last semester spiced the year for us, also making us proud to have some of the talent that we possess in our class. Much fun was experienced in practicing and presenting the Senior Play, "Murder Mansion." Along with our usual parties we were pleased with the one the Juniors gave us. Now our grand finale—Baccalaureate Sermon, Class Night and Graduation. It doesn't take long to write these but they are more to us than we can express. We've experienced about every emotion that exists, and now a sadness surrounds us, not a distressing grief—just the thoughts of good-bye to this school, classmates, friends, and teachers, which have grown so dear to us.

Still gazing at this jewel I realize these four years have been too short. The bad times we've had have only made the good ones seem so much better. After

SENIOR PLAY

The Senior play, "Murder Mansion," was presented April 23, 24, and 25. Both the cast and the director enjoyed working on this three-act mystery play.

The following is a synopsis of the story:

When young Carlotta Cramer, through the death of her Uncle Ewing, inherits a lonely old mansion off the coast of Maine, she can hardly wait to get to the mansion and look it over. So, accompanied by her colored maid, Ophelia, and her Aunt Mimi Spaulding, she arrives at the mansion early one Fall evening. The instant Carlotta and her party are inside of the mansion they are subject to a set of highly mysterious and baffling incidents. By the time they succeed in locating Mary Marley, the housekeeper in charge, they are in a state of near collapse. The housekeeper adds to their fears when she informs them that Carlotta's Uncle Ewing did not die of natural causes, but that he was murdered. Carlotta and her party prepare to leave but they are intercepted by Inspector Hicks of Headquarters. He is with them for a short time and then disappears, the victim of foul play. A strange and exotic woman appears in the form of Madame Marie Ravoli. She insists that she is in contact with the spirit world. A few minutes before the final curtain the mysterious events are cleared up and the play ends happily for everyone.

The Greenbank chapter is a 100% club with all students of Vocational Agriculture belonging to the organization. Each year the chapter has a fall party with each member bringing a friend, female or otherwise, and in the spring it has an annual Father and Son Banquet.

Some of the activities of the Chapter are the preservation of wild birds by planting of bird seeds and small shrubs. Each year the chapter reforests waste lands and

ADDRESS OF SALUTATORIAN

As we the Seniors of this graduating class come to the crossroads and look back to the preceding four years of our school work, we can hear the voice of Greenbank High School.

She speaks to her children and the message she gives is one tendered with the griefs, the joys, the heartaches, the sorrows, and the hopes of years gone by and of the greater ones yet to come. To us she has given everything and to her we leave the promise to uphold to the utmost the heritage she has entrusted to us.

Listen while the voice of Greenbank speaks to us, the class of '46.

It was not for the past but for this moment and the moments to follow for which I have prepared you. I have tried to teach you, to educate you in the ways of the world and bring you to an even standard with the rest of the world. No race is equal unless all contestants start on an even mark. Without education any person must start behind the starting point. To you I have given this training in the hope of fitting you for an even start in a long and courageous race. To you I have given the education, the means to meet the economic world with a trained mind and to meet the youth in it on an equal basis, so that you may be capable of pursuing that which you desire. In you I have instilled the hope of advancement and the dreams that by the dint of hard work will one day come true. Because of my teachings you will be able to earn for yourself, not only a living, a means of existence, but a place in the world of industry beside of or ahead of the best.

In addition to economic existence and far above economic things in import, I have prepared you for a higher standard of living. This life ours is not merely drawing breath, sleeping, eating, and resting. Life has standards from the highest to the lowest. Those who are prepared do not occupy the lower rungs of the ladder but take their places on the higher levels. It is my hope and my sincere trust that in the days to come you will be found living a greater, fuller, and better life among the best. Your training should enable you to know and recognize those things which bring you an exalted order of living. Automatically you will accept the higher things and reject the levels which are not in accordance with your mental standards.

Only by citizens of higher training can the average standards of the world be raised. You, My Children, are in effect a selected group chosen and trained to set the high standard of living before the eyes of the rest of the world.

Since the days of the long ago when God gave to Moses on Mt. Sinai the Ten Commandments, the world has striven and worked in an unending war to give to mankind moral concepts and practices which should elevate and improve mankind. Those elements of your education which pertain to better living were not aimless or accidental. They were designed to bring to you an appreciation of the cleaner, the better, and the higher in life. Go forth, My Children, and never allow those precepts to fade from your minds. Live not only those precepts yourselves but make them patent to others. Let this gloom-darkened world see in you a light of morality that grows not dim with the years.

Children of Greenbank High School I am sending you out today to become units in a nation that is the hope of the civilization of the world. Those who are

I have loved you, My Children, and I would be grieved should you take the view that all my precepts mean only work, strife, and service to others. I have left the best for the last for I have not neglected to give you a preparation to make for yourselves a bigger, a broader, a keener, and a deeper enjoyment of this life on earth The end of existence is death and I wish for you that when you have come to the end of your years you can truthfully say, "I have not merely existed, I HAVE LIVED."

I have tried to point to you the paths which will enable you to drink from life the greatest draughts of life freely. I have opened to your minds the rich storehouses of the past. I have given to you the great treasures of immortal literature. I have made yours the deep secrets of scientific advancement. I have endowed you with the secrets which the inventor has wrested from the close-lipped Mother Nature.

These are yours now, My Children, to use to broaden your own life, to make it full and free and happy. With all these things I have given you, go forth class of '46. My confidence, my trust, my hopes, and my prayers go with you now and in the future.

CHEERLEADERS

The Greenbank Merry Wigglers 4-H Club was organized in 1935 under the leadership of Miss Margaret Lightner. This year it has a membership of sixty-two.

This club at Greenbank High School has had 100% completion of projects four different years, and 80% completion of projects for four years.

Among the various activities that the members have participated in this year are:

1. Public program at the March meeting of Greenbank P. T. A.
2. Annual Achievement Banquet. The purpose of which is to present awards to members who have done outstanding work on their projects during the club year.
3. Served refreshments at the Alumni Dance and President's Ball.

Field Day will be held May 11. This is also an annual event where clubs from all over the county use their athletic skill in races, ball throws, broad jumps, etc., to become the champions of the county. The Merry Wigglers won a plaque, which if won by a club three different times becomes a permanent possession, for the first time in 1943. In 1944 and 1945 it won second place at Field Day.

HOME ECONOMICS

The Future Homemakers, Chapter of Greenbank High School, formerly known as the Future Homemakers Club, is composed of 66 girls. Each is striving to learn the arts of homemaking and thus be better homemakers. Many interesting and helpful things are learned from this club under the supervision of Miss Flora Post.

New members are invited into the club each year, providing they are qualified to join. Being taken into this organization consists of one day of folly through initiation and the next day a beautiful ceremony lighted only by candlelight. The old members explain the purpose, aim, colors, pins, etc., of our group and the new ones make their pledge.

Our meetings are held the first Thursday of each month during fifth period. These meetings consist of, aside from the business section, a program presented by two or three girls who were chosen the month preceding by the Vice President. The programs are of various types and prove very, very interesting as well as helpful.

In the spring our thoughts turn to our annual party, when all members are permitted to invite whom they want to accompany them on this occasion. It goes without saying practically everyone has a "peach of a good time."

ADDRESS OF

VALEDICTORIA

At the beginning of tonight's solemn occasion my classmate spoke to you in the words of Greenbank High School to her graduating children. We hear her words, we listen with respect and sincerity, we honor her and appreciate all that she has given to us. Her words of warning and advice do not fall on deaf ears; we hear, we heed, and to those who listen we hear her graduates make answer. Hearken to the words of the class of '46, these words constitute our solemn promise and are in themselves our pledge to the world and to the future.

Dear High School, we appreciate all the things you have done for us. You gave us happy days and the greatest experience thus far of our careers. It is true there were sad days, perhaps not understood then but better understood now. For the happy days we thank you, for the sad ones we express our acceptance and our hope for a better understanding for them in the future. We believe your words you told us that you had given us an economic preparation but we are not selfish, accepting all and returning nothing. We promise that to this world we will make an economic return. We do not expect to take from the world all profit as does the farmer who destroys the land for the sake of one crop but we shall strive to build, improve, and contribute to the economic structure of our nation. Only in such a way is the future of unborn generations safe. We long ago learned the lesson from the words of the Master to "Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's and to God the things that are God's." It is our duty which we accept without question to render to our nation a reasonable return for the benefits received.

Our High School has told us and we see the truth of the words that we are prepared for a higher standard of living. We do not expect merely to slip into that higher plane, reap the fruits of it, and depart leaving no trace behind us. No! rather shall we go into our positions realizing the imperfection of all things and determined to depart leaving and vacated places better than we found them for those who shall come after. In the words of Longfellow it is our earnest hope that this class may "Departing leave behind us footprints on the sands of time. Footprints that perhaps another sailing o'er life's solemn main a forlorn and ship-wrecked brother seeing may take heart again."

The class of 1946 is imbued with high ambitions and desires. We know that we are only a few and we [illegible] creases our determination that we spread our influence far and wide. Over two thousand years ago on the shores of the Lake of Galilee the Master gave us the lesson of the leaven in the bread. He taught that even the small influence from a small beginning might go through all the world and spread it's effect to all parts. Why may we not be as the leaven in the bread? The influence of the educated as a rule determines the destiny of the nation. By holding aloft those higher ideals, those greater standards, and those better precepts we can make the world a better place in which to live. We can and we will. If we fail we shall have failed in our greatest objective.

You have asked us, Greenbank, to be good citizens. We accept your request and shall be so. We realize the truth of your statement that this great nation of ours bases its chances for future greatness and its chances to fulfill its great obligation on the abilities and determination of its younger citizens. We have heeded your lessons which the citizen should know and we accept the responsibilities of citizenship with a serious mind knowing that it will not all be a path of roses.

Already we see that life from now on will no longer be bounded in by the same narrow confine. Our education has let down the bars which have before this blocked our vision. At this point we realize that there are no horizons; but that beyond them arise only broader and greater vistas. Education has opened a way for us to enter into the fuller, more complete, and more satisfying existence. Though our training never makes us capable of earning an extra cent it is well worth while for the extended life which it brings to our doorstep. In knowledge there is power, in knowledge there is joy, in knowledge there is a deep and abiding satisfaction. All these things which I have mentioned are only a part of what we feel to be our duty to the world and in regard to them all, we the class of '46 promise to keep all in mind which you our school have given to us. We shall practice your precepts always. This is our solemn pledge.

ROOTERS CLUB

For the past few years the Rooters Club has been an active club of the school.

The aim of the Club is to keep the school spirit up and back the team with a good cheering section. This was shown by the fact that a good many of the members of the Rooters Club attended the Tournament this year.

The main function of the Club for the past two years has been to serve the basketball teams, both home and visitors, after games.

At the beginning of the school year 1945-1946 the Club was reorganized and the following officers were elected:

PROPHECIES

TOMMIE ARBOGAST is an accountant, traveling over the country checking on the taxes as well as the men along the way.

RUTH MARGARET BEVERAGE is a teacher in a little one room school in Skunk Hollow, teaching the students how an opposum smells with his instinct.

BOB BROWN is married and is making his living by directing the North Fork Choir for 50 cents a week.

GERTRUDE CALES—deceased. Died of a broken heart. Lived the life of an old maid and died the same.

JEANNE COVER RADER is happily settled down with Ralph and her small family of only 13 children.

JOANNE COVER KANE is the happy wife of "Red" trying to raise a small family to keep up with Jeanne.

BEULAH DAHMER has finally settled down with June Buterbaugh and is teaching her eighteen-month-old daughter to jitterbug.

PAULINE DAHMER is married to a minister. As they hold revivals, she sings solos.

MARY MARGARET DEPUTY is working as a soda jerker in Baltimore. (The restaurant goes in the hole because she is always thirsty).

BERTHA LEE DILL is playing in a New York Concert. Between rehearsals she relaxes and plays "Billy Boy."

In 1952, AMIL ERVIN invented a new kind of rocket ship and is now on an expedition to Mars to negotiate peace terms because of an argument of who owns the moon.

JULIA FISHER is a nurse in the color blind ward trying to convince the patients that her hair is auburn and not red. By the way not many of these patients are strangers, but old friends of GHS.

RUSSELL GABBERT is seen married to Nellie Simmons and singing, Now She's Mine and I Don't Worry."

IDA GAYE HINER is a private tutor in the home of the Noels. Mrs. Noel is a friend of Ida's; the friendship dating back to GHS school days.

LINDY HOUCHIN is a radio technician repairing the radios which had tubes jarred loose during applause which followed Marian's solo.

AL SMITH McCUTCHEON is seen rocking his babies to sleep strongly singing, "I Wish I Were Single Again."

GERTRUDE CROMER McDANNELS is a housekeeper and selling fish bait to keep her and her family alive.

JOLENE McLAUGHLIN is living on Buck Mountain herding sheep, still in hopes of hooking Troy Moore for a shepherd.

DOROTHY LEE MICK is known as the only woman who can talk so fast and long without tiring.

REBECCA MOYERS is a novelist who has just written a best seller, "Gone With the Men."

RUTH NELSON is a tall, six-footer looking back on the days when she could easily go through a door without stooping or turning sidewise.

SADIE NELSON is a typical farmerette. She and Harry put a small bit of atomic power in a tractor and have gone for a ride in an autogyro.

FRANKLIN NOEL is Gertrude Cales' boss in New York, telling her to write in shorthand "All my love I give to you."

JIMMY PRITCHARD is the only bachelor we had in the whole class because he just didn't have the courage to ask Ida Gaye to marry him.

We see HENRIETTA Ralston sightseeing West Va. from the top of a hill in Greenbank.

NIMMIE RALSTON is seen in an art school raging because somebody took his pencil again.

IOLA REXRODE has completed a novel, "Wild Animals I Have Met," describing Seniors of '46.

AARON S. HILL

The first school in the vicinity of Greenbank was erected in 1780. It was a typical pay school of that period: the fee was paid by boarding the teacher a certain length of time, according to the number of scholars in the school.

As Greenbank became a larger place than a one-house-town, a school was erected below the town at what was then known as the Crossroads, and named after the location. The school lasted until the year 1820, and then a school was built on what is now the property of John R. Gum which was then known as Cartmill Creek. This school served the purpose of educating the pioneer children for a decade or more.

As churches were built with better regard to the density of the people, the session rooms became the school houses, the session room of Liberty Church being one of the most important in Greenbank Community. The session room schools were usually taught by the pastor, and if the pastor did not teach, outside teachers would teach a term of three months for a dollar a scholar if there were as many as ten scholars.

The session room schools lasted until 1842, when the Greenbank Academy was erected where the Odd Fellows Lodge Hall now stands in Greenbank. This was the first free school and was first taught by Professor Benjamin Arbogast who had influenced the founding of it. The usual number attending was from sixty-five to seventy-five. This school was part of the Academy program of the county which called for the erection of three academies: at Greenbank, Huntersville, and Hillsboro. These three buildings were of brick and were the most modern buildings in the county. Most of the people in Greenbank District sent their children to this school. These scholars boarded at Greenbank for there was no method of conveyance from the more distant homes.

When a student had finished this school he could attend Institute for a week, and then pass a test given and prepared by the County Superintendent and become qualified for a teaching position. Greenbank District had its own Board of Education at that time, so the teachers went before them to qualify for a job. But they had to have as many as two trustees of the three to sign their contract before the job was forthcoming; the salary being about sixty dollars per month.

A few months after the Civil War, the building was remodeled and changed to a two-storied one and renamed the "Advanced School." It had a high standard of education.

The old Academy served until 1916; the last session being taught by C. E. Flynn, who later became County Superintendent. Its place was taken by the High School.

In the year 1916, John W. Goodsell, President of the Board of Education, with the aid of Dr. Leland Moomau, founded the Greenbank High School with the graded school being in the same building. The first levy of money, called for enough money to build the part known a few years ago as the high school part, which extended from the front of the building to the present end of the press room. At first high school and grades were taught in the same part, but as enrollment increased, the building was extended to the beginning of the gymnasium, and a few years later the gym and the rooms above it were erected. This last was completed in 1926.

Quite a dispute was aroused over the location of the building, so it was submitted to a popular vote. The main candidates for the election were Cass, Dunmore, Durbin, and Greenbank, with the latter coming in ahead with a fair majority.

The first term of school opened in the fall of 1918 with a small enrollment. The first principal was W. P. Haught of Bristol, W. Va., with Miss Lucy Meredith, Margaret Hunt, and Lillian Moomau as assistants.

The first graduate of the school in 1919 was Grace Curry, who had attended Marlinton for three years. In the year of 1920, there were five graduates: Virginia Dare Moomau, Helen Beard, Bertie Beard, Lillian Beard, and Lucille Oliver. In 1921 there were ten graduates, fifteen in 1922, fourteen in 1923, nineteen in 1924, and so on.

N. Phay Taylor, the second principal, was succeeded by T. P. Harwood, who served nine years as principal. Mr. Harwood was replaced in 1931 by John Roach who served four years. In 1930, Claude A. McMillion became principal, and served until his death in the spring of 1945, when Mack Brooks, Assistant County Superintendent, served until the end of the term. In the fall of 1945, Mr. Virgil B. Harris of Gassaway, W. Va., became principal and has served for two years.

The first term of school opened in the fall of 1918 with a small enrollment. The first principal was W. P. Haught of Bristol, W. Va., with Miss Lucy Meredith, Margaret Hunt, and Lillian Moomau as assistants.

The first graduate of the school in 1919 was Grace Curry, who had attended Marlinton for three years. In the year of 1920, there were five graduates: Virginia Dare Moomau, Helen Beard, Bertie Beard, Lillian Beard, and Lucille Oliver. In 1921 there were ten graduates, fifteen in 1922, fourteen in 1923, nineteen in 1924, and so on.

N. Phay Taylor, the second principal, was succeeded by T. P. Harwood, who served nine years as principal. Mr. Harwood was replaced in 1931 by John Roach who served four years. In 1936, Claude A. McMillion became principal, and served until his death in the spring of 1945, when Mack Brooks, Assistant County Superintendent, served until the end of the term. In the fall of 1945, Mr. Virgil B. Harris of Gassaway, W. Va., became principal and has served for two years.

Brief Highlights: Basketball started early in the school's history; football not until 1926—first touchdown for school made by Olen Hiner in a game with White Sulphur. In 1930, separate Vo-Ag building was constructed; the next year a bus garage. In 1936 an addition to the main building

An experience which is deposited in the memory is a treasure most valuable to the possessor. We are aware that although our activities are soon committed and left far behind, yet they are not irrevocable, for they live in our memories. Thus it is with our high school experiences.

When first we entered upon this trail, the end of it seemed afar off. This happy time began for us in the fall of 1943. Our party consisted of about eighty members, and our sponsors, Miss Brown and Mrs. Coyner, were indeed helpful in starting us off and keeping us on the right path. Since we needed also some class monitors, we elected the following for the first lap of the journey:

Trail Master—Danny Taylor
Assistant Trail Master—Blanche Hamed
Journalist and Accountant—Betty Plyley
Group Representatives—Betty Galford and Bonnie Pugh
Exhorter—Deannie Rexrode

Under the leadership of these, our class pressed onward in its journey, and began to take part in activities. Athletics called some members, and many enrolled in music. We all enjoyed this first year of travel, and took a day off for a picnic at the end of it.

The second lap of the journey was begun with enthusiasm. We had fewer members than the year before, for some had decided to rest awhile and hadn't come along with the rest of the group, or had gone either to the service of the country or had undertaken the same journey with another group. We were sorry to lose these, but we went ahead in our journey. We elected for helpers of our sponsor, Miss Barlow, the following:

Trail Master—Hubert Rexrode
Assistant Trail Master—George Filuta
Journalist and Accountant—Blanche Hamed
Representative—Mattalea Cales and Frances Sheets
Exhorter—Deannie Rexrode

We were deeply grieved by the loss of two of our fellow-travelers—Danny Taylor and Charles Grogg—during this second lap. Both these students were popular with everybody, and we were all sorry to lose them. Our class like all the others was shocked and grieved by the death of our very best friend and principal, Mr. C. A. McMillion. As we continued our march toward our goal we, not only as a class, but each individual also, will possess a lasting memory of a great helper and friend.

All in all, our second year was very interesting for us, even though we had hardships and griefs along with the pleasantries of the trip.

In our third year, we were under the leadership of a new principal, Mr. Virgil B. Harris, whom we welcomed warmly. Our sponsors were Miss Brown and Mrs. Coyner, and we selected the following helpers for our class:

Trail Master—Hubert Rexrode
Assistant Trail Master—George Harris
Journalist and Accountant—Blanche Hamed
Representatives—Mattalea Cales and Neil Gragg
Exhorter—Frances Sheets

With these leaders, we picked up our trail anew, and with fresh enthusiasm assumed the title of Juniors. We held two parties during the year which were well attended. Four of our members had joined the band the year before and were still helping to make music on all occasions.

This third lap of our journey was successful as a whole, and we climaxed it near the end by giving the Seniors a formal banquet. The gymnasium was decorated very beautifully, and the scene was candle lighted. Under this setting everybody had a wonderful time, and marked down this banquet as one of the highlights of his high school journey.

In the fall of 1946, we again took up the last lap of our trip. Our sponsors this year were Mr. Blackhurst and Miss Burner, now Mrs. Jenkins. Our class officers were elected soon, as follows:

Trail Master—Blanche Hamed
Assistant Trailmaster—Hubert Rexrode
Journalist—Sue McElwee
Accountant—Dorothy Campbell
Representative—George Harris
Exhorter—Jean Tenney

On September 18, we ordered our class rings and calling cards which were our first tangible evidences of our Senior position. During the last year of travel, we have had many experiences which we will always remember. We presented several assembly programs to the school which were well-received. We had a party early in November which everybody enjoyed.

We welcomed a new classmate early in the year—Jeanne Tenney, who had attended Ravenna High School formerly.

We have enjoyed every day of our high school

The Greenbank Merry Wigglers Club was organized in 1935 under the leadership of Mrs. M garet Lightner Cole. This year due to the large enrollment the club has been divided into a Ju and Senior Club with Mrs. Cole still leading the Senior group. The membership is 54 this year.

Among the various activities that the 4-H'ers have participated in this year are:

1. Public program given at the March Parent-Teachers Association meeting.
2. The Annual Achievement Banquet where a large number received awards for outstan work done the past year.
3. Jeanne Sheets won the All-Star Scholarship to Jackson's Mill for outstanding work at S Camp.

The Annual Field Day will be held May 3, at which time the Merry Wigglers will try to first place and have the honor of keeping the plaque which has been in the Wigglers' possession two previous years and if won this year will be ours for "keeps."

CONSERVATION

In an effort to further conservation practices in the state and county, Greenbank High School is offering to its students a new course. It is called Nature Study and Conservation, and to conserve Natural Resources and Wildlife is the main objective of the study.

Class work is devoted to the study and evaluation of our various specimens of wildlife. The nature study angle is designed chiefly in order that the student may have an understanding of the ways, habits, characteristics and economic value of the creatures of the wild.

In addition to class work some study is made in the outdoors. There students learn first hand knowledge of many of nature's denizens.

The course is open to both girls and boys. Contrary to what might have been expected the girls are, in many cases, showing better ability as conservationists than the boys.

Each pupil aside from regular class work is required to carry a beneficial project in some form of conservation. Among these are such activities as vermin control, tree planting, stopping erosion ditches, game feeding, improvement of game and fish habitat, planting game food, game and fish protection and many others.

The class has contracted to plant on various farms ten acres of new forest, requiring about 12,000 seedlings. In addition those having streams on home farms expect to plant tree cover on banks.

During the heavy snow of February and March 17 bird feeding places were maintained by members of the class. At present 21 students are enrolled.

The Future Homemakers Chapter of Greenbank High School, formerly known as the Future Homemakers Club, is composed of 65 girls. Each member is striving to learn the art of homemaking. The chapter is under the supervision of Miss Flora Post.

New members are taken into the chapter each year, providing they meet the requirements of the chapter. The first day of initiation is one of folly but the second day there is a beautiful ceremony lighted only by candles. Some of the older members explain the purpose, aim, colors, pins, and project of the group and the new members make their pledges.

Meetings are held the second Tuesday of each month from 9 to 10 o'clock A. M. These meetings consist of a program presented by the girls under the supervision of the Leader and Vice-President in addition to the business sessions.

One of our members, Miss Jeanne Sheets, was elected state song leader for the year 1946-47. She also was elected national Vice-President for the year 1947-48.

SALUTATORIAN

(An Address)

Parents, teachers, classmates, friends: All who have come either to witness or to take part in this, our graduation exercises; it gives me great pleasure to bid you welcome tonight. We appreciate your presence: to us it is a sign of your interest in us, both as individuals and as a group. This same interest has been evident in former years, for our progress thus far would have been impossible without it. We wish to thank you for your backing, and with due propriety we say, "This is your school, for you have made it possible. Therefore, we bid you welcome."

As we stand looking back on our past four years, we are moved by various reactions. First we are saddened by the thought that we have now reached the last moment as a group. We have come far, we have formed friendships — friendships which will extend themselves greatly in the years to come; we have had our joys, our sorrows, our hours of bereavement, our days of bliss. We have met all with determination, accepting each responsibility with the will to see it through, not basking in the glory of one achievement, but rather, spurred on by accomplishment, moving onward to a better and a higher responsibility. This as a group we have done, and we are filled with sadness as we realize that we have made our last accomplishment together. Yet we rejoice now we have completed our first great responsibility — that of educating ourselves so as to be fit for American citizenship.

This preliminary to American Citizenship — education — was not a single factor, but was composed of many parts. We count our education starting from the first word we spoke, the first step we took. From that time until now, we have been guided in the right path by our parents, our teachers, and our associates. To all these, we wish to express our appreciation for the aid they've bestowed upon us. All this help has been very important to our education. Coming from varied sources, the aid has been of many different natures — we recognize the values of literature, of mathematics, of arts, of specialized training, and of the other courses in which we have been instructed; but through association with others and with God, we have developed our characters, giving each factor its proper place in our lives, forming from the conglomeration of influences a grand unit by which each individual is known. It is the character we are now that we will be when we are older, for childhood influences have far-reaching effects. We are grateful for the good influences our parents. An ungrateful person is of all people the most miserable. We all have heard the legend of the pond which retained all the water that flowed into it contrasted to the brook which passed all the water it received on to another. When the drought came, the pond dried out while the book flowed merrily on with water in it. Thus it is with us: we have received much, and we are now ready to give more than ever before, knowing for certain that the more we give away, the more we can take in. This is the way we must assume our responsibilities to the last generation, to the present generation, and to the next generation to come. We are richer by the knowledge of past generations— we have a wealth of facts which our forefathers wrested from Nature and set down so they might not be forgotten now they had once been learned. During our school days, and especially during the last four years, we have been learning these so we can use them to our own advantage, add what new facts we can discover, and pass them on to future generations. Where our forebears made mistakes, we must observe them, and pattern our activities so we will avoid such. Thus our generation profits both from the achievements and the mistakes of past generations.

With our innate love for freedom, we will take up our privileges and duties of Americanism. This, second to spiritual responsibility, is what we have been training for. In the words of Christ, "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart, all thy soul, and with all thy strength; and thy neighbor as thyself." This last is Americanism — holding that all men are created equal. As we now are facing the world, we needs must remember this and practice it more avidly than ever before.

In just a few moments our high school days will have ended. Have they been worth-while? Only time can tell. Shall we go forth into the world with the will to be a benefit to mankind, or, will we go to be parasites on the rest of humanity? This is an important question, and must be decided by each individual for himself. Our training has been given us in the hope that we will use it for the best. Will we live up to these hopes? This, too, is a personal question requiring an individual answer. However, it is our responsibility to use what we have to further the race of mankind, to perpetuate the knowledge of the ages, to do what we can for our fellowmen, to be a burden to no man, and,

VALEDICTORIAN

Parents, teachers, friends, members of official board, underclassmen and patrons of Greenbank. I come to you tonight as a representative of the graduating class of Greenbank High School. As I greet you tonight it is with mixed emotions. For tonight as we stand at the crossroads of life realizing how outstanding this occasion will be to us whenever we look back upon it in the future, we are deeply moved by a feeling of anticipation for what is to come, devotion for the Alma Mater from which we are about to depart, fondness for those friends and classmates to whom we must now bid farewell, and gratitude for our loving parents and considerate faculty who through the past four years have made our journey a more pleasant one.

I have said that we stand at the crossroads of life. The road behind us was a single trail whereon we were protected by guard-rails which were formed by our parents' strong love for us and their lasting faith in us. There were times when the hills seemed more steep than usual, the going was rough and discouragement seemed to be winning the battle. But never a dark cloud appeared on the horizon that was not soon turned by our guardians to show us the silver lining. There were times when we would have fallen by the wayside rather than take the next uncertain step. But our ears caught the faint echo of your voice pleading with us to "Fight On," and thus step by step we have climbed until now we have arrived at the gateway to the future. Before we are admitted into that broader world of the future we pause a moment. And as the twilight of our high school life sheds its farewell rays on our path we come to the realization that this occasion has been made possible by your efforts in our behalf. In vain tonight we try to express our gratitude for your work and sacrifice toward our success. Finding no flowery phrase capable of expressing our appreciation to you we shall resort to a simple but sincere "Thank You."

Now the gate of the future opens and standing wide it beckons to us. As we step up hand in hand to peer into the vast beyond the sight of the crossroads recalls to our memory the words of Richard Hovey:

"You to the left and I to the right,
For the ways of men must sever—
And it well may be for a day and a night,
And it well may be forever.
But whether we meet or whether we part
(For our days are past our knowing).
A pledge from the heart to its fellow heart
On the ways we all are going!
Here's luck!
For we know not where we are going.
Here's luck!
And a cheer for the dark before us."

And so tonight our ways which for four years have been one, must be severed and the handclasp by which we have been united must now be torn asunder. Each class member must take up the path of his choice and continue the journey through life. If we have chosen wisely our trail will lead us toward a higher rung on the ladder of success. And we tonight, because of our faith in our training and in our preparation for this moment feel that we will make the right choice. Whatever trail we may take we must realize that we shall meet with turmoils of life unknown to us before. Thus we must begin our ascent with the knowledge that it is to be a far different road from the one which we have previously traveled. Our parents and faculty will no longer be there to give to us that much needed strength and courage. Therefore we must look above to a Higher Power whom we shall take along on the Road of Life as our guide.

Tonight as we are about to step through the arch to begin the journey which will take us another mile of the way, we hear the voice of past ages speak to us. The appeal comes to us in the words of John McCrea:

"To you from failing hands we throw
The torch—be yours to hold it high."

We have heard your voice, O Past Ages, and in answer to your request we shall accept the torch symbolizing the heritage handed down to us by the past generations, with the determination that we shall bear it high above the chaos of the turbulent world of today. We promise to you that those educational advantages which have been given to us shall be preserved and used by us and later passed on to our followers that they and the whole world may look forward to a brighter future.

Heretofore we have not realized the important part which your gift has played in our educational development. For the past four years we as students have had the advantage of all the wisdom and culture which has accumulated through the past centuries. We were asked to pay nothing for this gift; rather the simple request of the donor was that we take it and use it for the betterment of America. Through the years we have taken of this gift, some perhaps more freely than others * * * and * * * Now that we have accepted the gift and pledged ourselves to the preservation of it, have we done our share or shall we think of the words of the Master when he had given the talents to the sons? Let us accept our heritage as a talent to be developed when we have reached the end of our journey into greater usefulness for mankind. * * *

SENIOR CLASS FUTURITY

Twenty-five years after my graduation, I suddenly became famous for my writings upon "The Exploits of the Common Fishworm." This erudite treatise immediately after publication became a best seller, and was translated into three hundred and one languages. Of course, the royalties from the sale of the book brought me a fortune, and I could retire and live luxuriantly even after my income tax was paid. My book was called the most wonderful book of the Twentieth Century, and I was asked to be buried in Westminster Abbey when I died. At the present time, I have not given my consent, but am thinking about it.

When I realized that I was a wealthy man, I immediately decided to look up my former high school classmates, most of whom I hadn't seen since graduation. I also wished to know where my teachers were, and what they were doing. Toward this end I planned, and after settling my domestic affairs, which were few, since I was still a bachelor, I set out from my home in Rhode Island with a view of not coming back until I had either seen or heard of my classmates and teachers.

I started to Pocahontas County first, since I expected that some would be still around. On my way, I stopped in New York for a while, and once went down Broadway for a walk. Just as I passed a five-and-ten cent store, I saw an Admiral of the Navy come out with a padlock in his hand. He looked familiar, and I ventured to ask his name. I was surprised to find it was Donald Shears, and we had a pleasant chat. He told me that he had married a shrew, and that he was taking the padlock home to put on his safe where his money was, for his wife spent it too avidly. I sympathized with him, and asked about our classmates. He knew as little as I, so after getting his address, I walked on up Broadway.

Suddenly I saw a name in lights that looked familiar, and examined it more closely. It said "MONNA BELLACIO VAN de VANDERCLIFT — Star of 'The Henpecked Crayfish'." I went into the theatre, and heard a tall woman in costume singing about being pinched. When the opera ended, I went backstage, and saw Miss Van de Vanderclift. As I expected, it was Monna Bell, my old classmate, and we had an interesting talk. (Monna had married a Count Vanderclift, and had divorced him after he had spent all her money.) Monna told me that Jack Hall was living in Hollywood, and was a famous movie director.

Leaving Monna, I went to the Waldorf-Astoria, and had a delicious dinner. Then I went to the Pennsylvania Station, and caught a train for Pocahontas County.

Arriving in Dunmore, I found that it had grown tremendously. I went to the Dunmore Hotel, and registered. Then I went to the Dunmore Theatre, and saw a movie starring Jack Hall. Then I went to the Dunmore Hospital, and had my appendix removed.

While I was in the hospital, I learned that Dunmore had been the scene of a terrible accident. Just as I was leaving Dunmore, a car suddenly swerved around a curve, and crashed into mine, causing us both to roll down the bank about a hundred feet. Luckily I received only minor injuries—seven broken ribs, a badly bumped head, and bruises all over my body. Nevertheless, I and the other driver were rushed to the hospital and lodged in the same room. The other driver was "Pinhead Cassell," still up to his old tricks, and he wasn't hurt—just a cracked nose this time. He said he had had eighty-four such accidents, but was still good for a few more.

As we were talking, a brunette nurse came in to see about us. I recognized her immediately —Pearl Rankin. She said, "Back again, Pinhead?" I learned he had been in this same hospital eighteen times. Pearl began talking rather wildly about her patients, and it was tacit that some of her patients hadn't died naturally. When she went out, I managed to call the head nurse, and requested another for me. I was glad to be rid of any danger from Pearl, for I hadn't seen all whom I wanted to see.

After recovery, I came to Dunmore by bus and found it larger than ever. Natural gas had been discovered, and the size of the town much increased. I found the Mayor to be Bob McQuain who was evidently doing well.

A larger school had been set up, and I found Sue McElwee one of the teachers. She was very strict and fastidious, having changed much. However, she seemed to like her job and home town as much as always.

When I went to Greenbank, I saw a scissor factory. This was something new, and I went to see the building. Imagine my surprise to find George Harris the owner of it! He said he had got the incentive from his wife's maiden name—Shears.

Two of my classmates were teachers in the High School at Greenbank. They were Gatha Gum, the economics teacher, and Norma Gragg the history teacher. Both were satisfied with their jobs, but I thought they were no different from any teacher. From them I learned of several of my classwates still living in the vicinity and I went to visit them.

I found Eula Taylor still scouting the country. She says she is young yet and the right man will come along in the near future.

Audrea Sheets (now Mrs. Gowan) was living on Sheets Road. In the summer, she went all over Pocahontas threshing barley for the farmers.

Mr. Smith was living at Arbovale on a large

Mr. Smith was living at Arbovale on a large farm. He was the father of four children, and he had succeeded in raising a hybrid pig which bore wool on its skin and gave milk which was converted into excellent cheeses. But then, I

Julian Gum had taken his father's job, and sold gasoline in three counties. He was making a good profit by shortchanging merchants and reading the gauges wrong. As yet, he hasn't been caught.

Cornelia Bennett was operator of a telephone switchboard in Spruce. She was married, and kept house after her working hours. She had the reputation of being the biggest gossip in town—I guess that's what telephones do for you.

I ran into Mr. Riley on the bridge at Cass. He said he had finally solved the most intricate of all problems, and related to me the formula. I thought it a rather absurd idea, but since it enabled him to loaf the rest of his life, I kept my mouth shut.

I found Miss Brown now married and living at Raywood with a pension, and the mother of three children. She said she had taught at Greenbank for twenty-two years before she got tired of it.

Further down the Greenbrier, I saw Miss Johnson directing a five-piece band which performed every time a freight pulled through. She said she always had liked the people of Clover Lick, and had decided to settle there. She quit teaching soon after I graduated.

Halfway up Gibson's Knob, I found Arlie Ryder's house. I knew his wife, the former Bonnie Sheets, and we talked for a long while. Then he called his children by numbers, and Bonnie told me their names were Andecombogius, Deviver Lick, and had

Then he called his children by numbers, and Bonnie told me their names were Andecombogius, Deviciacus, Arurunculeius, Cassivellaunus, Convictolita, and Seribonianus and Vercassivellanus, twins. Arlie always did what Bonnie told him, even to naming the children.

Mary Jo White was the proprietor of a mortuary—a first-class undertaker. Her shop was on the banks of Leatherbark Run, and she offered me her services. However, I declined the invitation.

As I needed a haircut, I entered a shop on Dirty Street in Cass. I found the proprietor was Jimmie Addington, and his shop was not only for haircuts, but also he had pool tables, soft drinks, a bowling alley, and a skating rink which was about ten feet square. He cut my hair unevenly, nipped my ear with the clippers, ruined my shirt with a spurt of tobacco-juice, and short-changed me before I left. As I went out the door, he threw a brick at my head, but it missed me. The next morning, for some reason, one of his windows was "busted."

A few days later I passed a goat farm on Cheat Mountain. Having a taste for goat cheese, I stopped to buy a cheese. The owner, an elderly woman who was nevertheless spry, came to meet me when I entered the gate. To my astonishment, I saw it was Mrs. Coyner, one acres, and she had 9,986 goats. She

I saw a ranch-- valley. The trees and grass were verdant and green, and the house itself was a lovely grey color. I landed in the front yard, and a woman came to the door. She looked familiar, and I asked who owned the ranch. Evidently she recognized me, for she said a schoolmate of mine owned it. Then she told me that Hubert Rexrode owned it, and she was his wife. Just then a husky-looking man walked around the corner of the house, whom I knew at once for Hubert. He was glad to see me, and asked me to stay at his ranch awhile. I gladly accepted the offer, and he took me to see his ranch. He had been teaching his two-year-old grandson how to shear a sheep when I arrived by air.

Late in September I left Hubert's ranch, after making him take my helicopter, and proceeded to San Francisco. The same day I arrived, I saw a newspaper article which told about Kenneth Duskey catching a mermaid while fishing. I went to see him, and could hardly get to him for the crowds. He told me about catching the mermaid in a net with two mer-children. A merman had followed his boat over a thousand miles to San Francisco. I urged him to liberate the mermaid and her children, and he did this after I reminded him of a poem we had studied in English IV. The merman brought him a treasure chest, for ransom, I suppose, which was sold to a junk dealer for $4.98.

From San Francisco I went to Hollywood, and watched Troy Moore being filmed in a picture called "This Is Her Last" playing opposite Mae city, and I went to see him. He said he was happily married, and was editing a comic strip based on his friends of high school days. The comic strip was a success, I have found out.

Being close to Mexico, I decided to tour that country. I did not like the people or the climate very much, but the scenery was superb. I found Mount Popocatapetl interesting, and I heard a tale of a woman called "Cactus Blossom" living on the mountainside. I thought it was a legend, but they assured me of its veracity. The people called her "Cactus Blossom" because she liked solitude so well that few approached her, and because she was reputed to be very beautiful. This intrigued me, and I asked them to guide me to her. I found "Cactus Blossom" living in an adobe house surrounded by flowers and a little brook, with a few cats to keep her company. This recluse, however, I found to be Blanche Hamed, who wrote her poetry and books here. She was famous for her poems, and she was writing a book "This Happened to Me," which was about her classmates. I supplied her with information about all whom I had met on my trip.

From Mexico I traveled to Panama, where I saw the Canal. I found Dorothy Campbell employed there. She was the operator of two of the locks on the Pacific end of the Canal. She said she liked to watch the water rise in the locks because it reminded her of the unpredictable fountains in the halls of Greenbank High.
When no ships were passing through, she fished for lobsters and waded around in the Canal barefoot.

When I got to the Amazon River, I found some supplies for Doctor E. Duckworth waiting at the river's mouth. I was told this famous

At that time she had had no success, but later she wrote me that she knew why —— women!

After touring South America, I went to Asia. In China I found Thelma Cummins as the United States ambassador. She said she liked her job except for the business part of it. She had recently signed a treaty which gave the Chinese full permission to sing American songs while they were in the bathtub. Through this action she hoped to promote good will between America and China.

In a few months I landed in Calcutta, India. I scouted about for a few days, and found out that an American Expedition had just come back from the Himalaya Mountains. I went to see them, and learned they were traveling for the National Geographic Society, and their leader the top of Mount Everest, and he was the tallest of the party. He received a medal to that effect.

From Asia I came to Alaska, where I found Mr. Harris fox chasing on the sides of Mount McKinley. He had killed two foxes in six years, but hadn't given up hope to kill a third. He needed three fox tails to decorate his radio aerial on his car, so he could set a new style in auto embellishments.

While strolling down a street in Paris one day, I met Mr. Hill whistling "Mademoiselle from Armentieres." We talked awhile, and I found that he had retired from teaching when he invented an atomic can-opener which required only ten manipulations on the part of the operator. After agreeing to buy one later, I left. I broke my promise, for I knew too much about can-openers, being a bachelor.

I happened to meet Earl DeLung at the top of one of the pyramids in Egypt, where we sat down and talked for three hours. During this time, we recounted our school days, and discussed our lives after graduation. Earl's biography would make interesting and exciting reading, for he had lived a thrilling life. I happened to meet Earl DeLung at the top of one of the pyramids in Egypt, where we sat down and talked for three hours. During this time, we recounted our school days, and discussed our lives after graduation. Earl's biography would make interesting and exciting reading, for he had lived a thrilling life. He had been on all the continents, in one hundred and three countries, and had sailed all the oceans and forty-two of the smaller seas. He had seen the rulers of most of the world, and had swum the Hellispont. He had been a mile under the ocean and sixty-eight miles in the air. When we met in Egypt, he had just finished a trip across the Sahara Desert. All in all, he had led an adventurous life, and he promised to collaborate with me one day in writing his biography. When we parted, he was headed toward the South Pole.

One day in Canada, I stumbled over a woman's feet in a street car, and injured her corns so much she nearly cried. I begged her pardon, and escorted her home. She was Goldie Slavins, and she had a mischievous daughter named Lula May, who acted very diabolic. She was very much like her mother in youth, and I commented on the likeness. But, strangely, I was told that I was so old I couldn't remember correctly any more, which I accepted as truth without argument at that time. Goldie was trying to squeeze her size 8 foot into a size 4 shoe, and her reward was corns. I tried to tell her that it was foolish for a grown woman to act thus, but I was so stultified that I got up and left.

Crossing Lake Superior, I met Neil Gragg on he pitched into the lake to see if the fish would bite.

When I passed through Morgantown, I stopped at the University. There I found Sammie Barlow working as a pig doctor, at times even doctoring sick cats. He had recently cured a pig of toothache, and was proud of himself. I had learned that he had merely extracted the tooth, but I didn't mention it to him for fear of hurting his feelings.

In Summersville, I went to the movies, and found Bob Wagner selling tickets. He had part interest in the theatre, and was selling tickets himself to avoid hiring someone else to do it. He said he liked Summersville, but not the people—they didn't like his prices.

When I went through Renick, I watched a football game, and saw someone cheering who looked familiar. I found it was Jean Tenney's daughter, and I went to see her. She hadn't liked the gentlemen around Greenbank very well and so had gone to Renick and married there. She lived a quiet life—keeping house, shopping, and the other things women are prone to do.

I came up the Greenbrier a few years after I had gone down and stopped in Marlinton, at the Kennison Hostelry. Betty was the proprietor's wife, and she had one child, a boy, who grew up and went to California. Betty had a first-class hotel, and was famous for it. She told me Norma Arbogast worked at the hospital, so I went around to see her. I knew she had wanted to be a nurse, and I asked for her at the hos-

I found she was Inspector of the Linen Closet at the Hospital—not quite a nurse, not quite a maid. I congratulated her on her success and left for Dunmore.

After six months, I found traces of Miss Smith. She was the Chief Sampler in Fleer's Bubble Gum Factory and liked the job well. She said she acquired the habit of chewing gum from watching her students in History.

Not long ago, I read of Mrs. Jenkins' death in the paper. She had been typing a letter on writer keys. While she struggled to loosen it, the ribbon wrapped itself around her neck, and she fell overboard as the ship rocked in a wave. The typewriter weighted her down, and they couldn't save her, but they sent the typing table to her husband.

Miss Post was working in the kitchen of an insane asylum. She was the potato masher, and her mashed potatoes were known far and wide. She had worked in the asylum since she quit teaching Home Economics, and said she hardly noticed any difference.

I had now found all my classmates and teachers except Mr. Blackhurst. Nobody could remember where he was, except for one girl who thought he went West. So, I went West, too. After a year's searching, I heard a woman talking over the back fence in a small Colorado village about the hermit living up on the "Peak." I questioned her, and came to the conclusion that it was Mr. Blackhurst. The "Peak" was a precipitous peak in the Rocky Mountains over three miles high. After getting supplies ready for mountain climbing, I began scaling the Peak. It was so steep and rocky that I was five days reaching the top. But my efforts were rewarded, for there was a little cabin near the summit.

He didn't seem very happy to see me, but I didn't mind that. After talking a week I found that he had written a 15,000-page book of a conglomeration of poems, short stories, and essays which nobody would publish. I offered to publish it, which I later did, although only twenty copies were sold. We talked about many other things, and I asked him how he got down from the mountain. He showed me an elevator which went down a shaft made by Nature. Nobody else knew where it came to, and it took only fifteen minutes to make a round

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Physical education is well installed in our school with three classes for girls and two fo The girls' classes are under the supervision of Mrs. Jenkins, Miss Brown and Miss Johnson. I classes the girls take exercise, play basketball and learn to play many new games.

The boys' classes are supervised by Mr. Hill and Mr. Harris. These classes are offered ther physical development and to train the youth of today to become the men of tomorrow.

SNACK AND SNACK CLUB

A group of twelve girls from the sixth class attended by Mrs. Hazard and Mrs. Berry and known as the Snack and Snack Club. The purpose of the club was to prepare refreshments for the basketball boys after each home game. The three Senior girls took turns being the chairman. Members from the Senior class were: Bonnie Pugh, Blanche Hazard and Goldie Harries. The Juniors: Helen Tracy, Lorena Shears, and Lorine Shears. The Sophomores: Patty McPherson, Gertrude Blackhurst and Betty Orndorff. The Freshmen: Gloria Dean Eye, Nancy Harris, and Martha McCutcheon.

Greenbank had a fairly successful season on the basketball court, winning nine and losing ten. Donald Shears was high point man of the season, getting 175 points. Four boys will graduate this year, as follows: Captain-elect Hubert Rexrode, Donald Shears, George Harris, and Earl DeLang. However, prospects are bright for next year's five with Ryder, Wooddell, Ralston, Arbogast, and Crist coming back.

The following are the points scored and by whom:

	Fouls	FG	Total
Donald Shears	19	78	175
Hubert Rexrode	49	38	125
Leon Ryder	27	72	171
John Ralston	15	44	103
George Harris	27	18	63
Jimmy Wooddell	20	33	86
William Arbogast	3	7	17
Gene Crist	1	2	5

Greenbank closed her football season with a record of five wins, two losses, and one tie, which was considered a very good record. Fourteen boys earned their letters, as follows: Lewis Shinaberry, Earl DeLung, Russell Cassell, Hubert Rexrode, George Harris, Donald Shears, Junior Stanley, Ward Beverage, Leon Ryder, Jimmy Wooddell, John Slavins, John Ralston, Edwin Doyle and Gay Cargile.

Other boys out for football were: Jim Nottingham, Bud Leader, George Rexrode, Junior Rexrode, George Cromer, Julian Tracy, Dale Gragg, Stanley Wooddell, Keith Gum, George Sheets, Neil Cassell, Keith Meeks, Archie Wilfong, Hubert Conrad, Bob Tacy, Jack Moore. The squad will lose six of its boys this year. They are: Lewis Shinaberry, Earl DeLung, Russell Cassell, Hubert Rexrode, George Harris and Donald Shears.

Senior Class History

The doors of G. H. S. were open in September, 1920, to a class of twenty-eight Freshmen. Mr. Taylor, our principal, told us to enroll to Miss Grimes. During this year we did out best to win friends and make our work a true foundation for the goal to be attained. Our greatest misfortune was to lose several of our members, Ralph Warnick, Verna Siple and Edwin Doyle. Under the care and advice of Miss Grimes, these remaining organized our class and survived as Freshmen.

A happy bunch of "Sophs" we were when school opened in '21. Temporarily sorry to find our classmate, Burke Grogg, going to Ronceverte. Our sorrow was overcome with joy to find five new members, Adolph Cooper, Grace Graves, Omer Brill, Thelma Conrad and Warren Oliver. Warren left us the first semester. With the help of Mrs. Pritchard we conquered all difficulties, making our foundation stronger. We were glad to say at the end of May that we were ready to be classified as Juniors.

When greeting G. H. S. in '22 we were disconcerted to find our class so divided; Omer Brill, Adolph Cooper, Willa Nottingham and Grace Graves were going to other schools. Sterle Nottingham, Meryle Irvine and Richard Lewis had moved away. Janet Woods, Myrtle Barkley and Sylvia Bennette were married. Frieda Williams, Margaret Wood, Edna Wilfong, Thelma Conrad and Edgar Shinnaberry, by going to summer school, were ready to join the seniors. This made the Juniors feel badly, although after organizing our class, with the help of Mr. Schnopp, we were delighted to find that Effie Moore, Thelma Collins, Wilma Slayton, Verne Siple, Arnold Willhide, Ida Jackson, Mary Phares, Flora Phillips and Sallie Warwick, by extra work, were able to help the Juniors solve their problems. It was the shock of our lives to find that we were still the largest class in school.

Two literary societies were organized this year. The Adelphians, under the care of Mr. Schnopp, consisted of the Juniors and Freshmen. The Columbians, led by Miss Hite, included the Seniors and Sophomores. We did our best in the programs we gave during the year, trying all the time to gain wisdom for our class and our helpers, the Freshmen. The second semester brought back our true classmate, Willa.

At the close of school we were nearer our goal. The Juniors took a great part in "Cherry Blossoms," for the two leading characters, Martha and Arnold, were proud to let everyone know that they were Juniors. Our help in this play ended our work for [illegible]

The second semester brought us two members, Joy and Mabel A gast, and a shock———! The preacher visited our class, uniting in Matrimony Sylvia Riley and Hume Bowles. We were glad to find that was not going to leave us.

Senior Class Will of 1924

We, the Senior Class of 1924, do hereby make and affirm this, our last will and testament, declaring all previous wills null and void.

Section I

After due consideration we have unanimously agreed to give and bequeath to our esteemed Faculty our heartfelt thanks for helping us in our school life to prepare for life's school.

To the members individually we leave the following:

Item 1. To Mr. Harwood, our honorable Principal, we will our English IV Classics of King Henry the Fourth; also the "ponies" that were used to help make the trip with Caesar through his Gallic wars are hereby left in his care.

Item 2. To Mr. Shires we leave a long summer free from Geometry and Algrebra II. The gymnasium is left vacant, too, for his personal use that he might go through the routine of his "daily dozen" without interruption.

Item 3. We give and bequeath to Mr. Schaffner the dictionary (to be found in Room 5), to which we have frequently "sped" for help in English IV. We, students of French, leave in his care our dictionary of French phrases for his use abroad this summer.

Item 4. To Mr. Hedrick we girls leave our cosmetics to cover his frequent blushes. We boys leave any cigarette stubs he might have found in his car to his care.

Item 5. To Mr. Monroe we gladly sacrifice our Bible examination papers, so that hereafter he may refer to them and thus be confident that he is right in saying just the opposite in his sermons.

Item 6. To Miss Moomau we give our entire consent for her to accompany Mr. Schaffner abroad this summer. We, with shorn locks, leave her our now useless hairpins, combs, etc.

Item 7. To Miss Brown, we girls give and bequeath for her hope chest the first garments we made in Sewing I. We leave her free use of the oil stove on which to cook soup and hot dogs during the rest of her stay at Greenbank.

Item 8. To Miss Fulgham we leave Mr. Hedrick's car to carry her back to Old Virginny, away from these terrible snow flakes. We also arrange for her a special course that she may learn how to write "A" on a fellow's report card.

Item. 9. To Mrs. Coon we bequeath every day of the week for music lessons without our dignified (?) presence. We will her, too, all keys, so she can play in any flat.

Section II

Item 1. To the dear Juniors, our successors, we hereby give and bequeath our numerous (?) rights and privileges that we gained by good behavior. We leave, too, our class motto, "Labor omnia vincit," the meaning of which we have interpreted and appreciated.

—The S

Senior Class Prophecy

Paris, France, Jan. 25, 1940.

I arrived here on the 23rd to pick up a few spring styles along the millinery line. On my way over here I heard of an old lady who could "read the blue" and tell the whereabouts of anyone you desired. To satisfy a longing of several years, I went to this mysterious old lady and inquired for the 1924 Class of Greenbank High School. This was her answer:

Clyde Cassell—Clyde is a comedian in Cassell Brothers Wonderful Three-Ring Circus, which tours Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia in the summer. Clyde is now spending the winter in Cass, resting after a season of hard "labor."

Mack Brooks—Mack graduated from W. V. U. in 1930. He is now president of "The Brooks & Beard Junk Company," at String Town.

Ida Jackson—"Ida graduated from Yale Business College in 1927. She is now bookkeeper for "Brooks & Beard Junk Company."

Colleen Siple—"Sis" taught school at Greenbank for five years, and, just as I expected, she has settled down near Lake "Oliver." I guess the smiles cast and the numerous notes written in study hall were not a waste of time after all.

Flora Phillips—This industrious young lady, who finished high school in three years, found many problems confronting her. I remember that she was once a "wifie-to-be." We find her in Pittsburgh, spending her leisure time writing matrimonial advice to the lovelorn. Have patience, Flo-Belle, he will come to you yet.

Willa Nottingham—It seemed a great task for "Bill" to make up her mind just what profession she would follow. When most deeply at sea over this question, Alex appeared on the scene and carried her away to a "love nest" in the village of Arbovale.

Effie Moore—Effe taught school for three years and then took a course in nursing. She is now head nurse in the Greenbrier General Hospital. If you should listen at her door when she is alone, you would probably hear her singing "Anybody Seen My Kelly."

Sallie Warwick—She was united in the bonds of matrimony soon af her graduation from G. H. S. She is now living in the mountains of W Virginia, surrounded by her happy little family.

Martha Reitz—I was afraid my mysterious old lady was not going find Martha. But after a long while she said: "There she is, way over the wilds of Southern Africa, teaching school. Her husband, Mr. Sh busily goes from place to place in an earnest effort to convert some of dark-complexioned branch of the human race."

Mary Phares—Mary was nominated for United States Senator in 19 but was defeated by her honorable opponent, Wilma Slayton. Mary turned meekly to her home at the foot of Buffalo mountain. Here she resu her old "trade," raising pure-bred Leghorn chickens, according to the re she learned from Mr. Hedrick in 1924.

Joy Arbogast—Joy graduated from "Hi Skule" in three years and, la turned her attention to the botanical world. After accumulating a large lection of various species of insects, she eventually found one that carried neath its fairy wings a dust-like material. This, she found, after being he to 412 degrees Farenheit and suddenly cooled, changed to a jelly-like stance. When applied to the skin of a negro, thirteen nights in succes this marvelous jelly bleached him entirely white. Since her discovery proven a success, I imagine it is a puzzle for Mr. Harwood to distinguish
"Dear" brother from his white brother now.

Beulah Brill—She is now touring Poland lecturing to the people on "Advantages of Bobbed Hair" and "Disadvantages of Beauty Parlors."
fore starting on this career, she burned a young lady's ear while curling hair in a beauty parlor—hence her disapproval.

Verna Siple—After so many failures and disappointments in tryin vamp a husband, she finally acquired one through an advertising age
She is now living a happy married life.

Thelma Collins—"Tillie" always had a talent for music, but I did

Flora Phillips—This industrious young lady, who finished high school in three years, found many problems confronting her. I remember that she was once a "wifie-to-be." We find her in Pittsburgh, spending her leisure time writing matrimonial advice to the lovelorn. Have patience, Flo-Belle, he will come to you yet.

Junior Class History

To prove that quality and not quantity is the "priceless pearl" of school of the Twentieth century, we cite your attention to the Junior Cla Greenbank Hy. Mechanically speaking, we hit on all "twelve" and you kind and patient readers to "Watch our dust."

In the fall of '21 we met for the first time on the Hy School camp be hailed from all quarters as Freshies. Early in October, with the fac aid, our class was organized and officers were elected. In members, we bered thirty, coming principally from Durbin, Dunmore, Cass and Greenb

Our Freshman, Sophomore and (the present) Junior terms have very successful. In number we have decreased, making the work fo "stickers" doubly difficult. As a class, we have always stood together, ing a helping hand to others when needed; giving at all times the best t of our class to represent the school in athletic tournaments, philanthropic grams and literary work.

Next year, we trust that our class will be enlarged by the hoped-for expected influx in order that the name of '25 will be remembered in the nals of our school. And now, if our class history seems brief and unpr ticus, please realize that we are liv

The Junior Class Poem

The Junior Class in size is small,
But full of pep and all;
Three years ago we came to stay,
We've had lots of study, but also some play.

G. H. S. to our hearts is dear,
The school spirit keeps us full of cheer;
We're a jolly bunch of girls and boys,
Long since passed the age of toys.

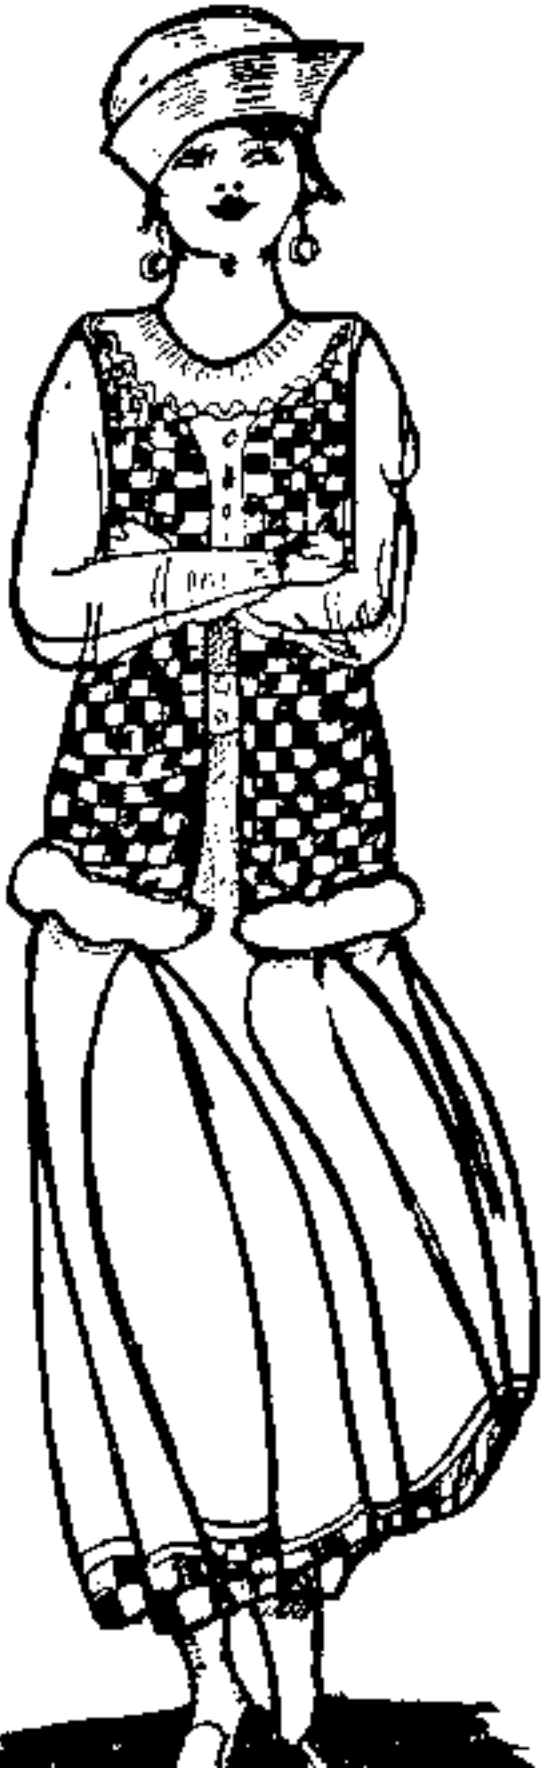

"Twenty-five" bases all on hopefulness,
And this is our purpose, more or less;
With all our faith and courage strong,
We'll do the right and right the wrong.

We, the Juniors in number ten,
Strive always to finish what we begin;
In sports and stunts, too, we excel,
We surely have one kippy yell:

"Happy Hooligan, Gloomy Gus,
What in the world's the matter with us?
We're the hot stuff of creation,
We're the Junior Aggregation."

In Nineteen Hundred Twenty-five
We'll tell the world that we're alive;
Come on, Juniors, we are set; let's go.
"Deeds, not words," that's our motto.

—B. E. G., '25.

Sophomore Class History

When Greenbank district became too large
For one high school to suffice
The problem was solved by two junior High schools,
Which we all thought wonderfully nice.

These elegant schools, with unfriendly views,
One at Durbin, the other at Cass,
With the Freshman bunch from the big high school
Form the Greenbank Sophomore class.

On February last, Nineteen twenty-four,
The class met in Room Number ten
To select their officers, class colors and such,
And find out just why, how and when.

Their President is "Liz," and they all stand pat,
Though they scarce know whom to elect;
When it came time to choose the Vice-President they thought Margaret Wilson the one to select.

"Peck came in for the money and, as things now stand,
The Sophomore Treasurer is he;
While Ethel's dear hand-writing, so clear,
Made her secretary. Oh! Gee!

Though Cass and Durbin were rivals complete,
In the days of their Junior High year,
They now work together as well classes must
For the good of the Sophs—never fear.

And they'll reach their goal—yes, more than that—
For look at the models before them;
The Juniors and Seniors (in their own good opinion)
Make patterns that we cannot condemn.

We, the members of the Sophomore troop,
Come together in a two-fold group
To show the others what we can do,
And to our colors we'll ever hold true.

We like our classes, and take great delight
In doing what's honest, faithful and right;
Whole-hearted we stand for the honor of the school
And try each day to keep every rule.

No matter what comes, we will do our best,
However hard may prove the test;
United we stand 'till we are forced to part,
With a spirit of loyalty and freedom of heart.

The Seniors look down upon us and say we are smart—
Well, they set the example and gave us a good start;
"Not equal" is our motto, and, without any doubt,
We'll take their places when they're ready to drop out.

And to our mistakes we must gladly confess,
But still we all love the old G. H. S.,
The grand old school, with its happy throng,
With its hours of study, joy and song.

many of which are important, but the greatest of all was the twenty-three industrious boys and girls in the Freshman Class High School.

We excel all other classes in quality. The upper classm ave just reason to be proud.

At our first class meeting we elected our officers. Duri ave made much progress. By next year we think we shall are of ourselves without the advice of others.

Freshmen Class Poem

You can tell we are Freshmen by the look on our face;
In G. H. S. we feel much out of place,
But nevertheless, when work must be done,
We are willing to sacrifice much of our fun.

Th Sophomores say we're as green as grass.
What more could you expect from a Freshman class?
We do not want for vim or pep,
But we are trying hard to establish a "rep."

We study hard for our Latin class,
And sometimes barely make a pass,
But we're always satisfied, don't you see,
Just so we never make a "G."

Domestic Science is not so bad,
But when class is over we are always glad.
Every seam must be straight as can be,
For no one knows what our "fate" might be.

English is easy we all admit,
But when "Current Events" come we're just out of it.
Then Mr. Schaffner asks in the usual way,
"Well, Brown, what do you have today?"

We are trying each day to gain greater fame
Than being just "Little Green Freshies" by name.
We hope to keep our spirit alive
And greet you again in twenty-five.

A Summer's Twilight

When the slothful sun is sinking
Behind the towering hills and trees,
Silence reigns the whole world over;
Twilight's here, nature feels at ease.

Now the stars come gently peeping
Through the quiet sky,
Moonbeams play tag with planets
Which then are happening by.

The world is covered with a veil,
Pale purple and gassamer light;
Fire-flies flit merrily round about,
Teasing fairies during the flight

The silver path across the sky
Is called the milky way;
It is said that maidens fair
Spilt milk upon this path one day.

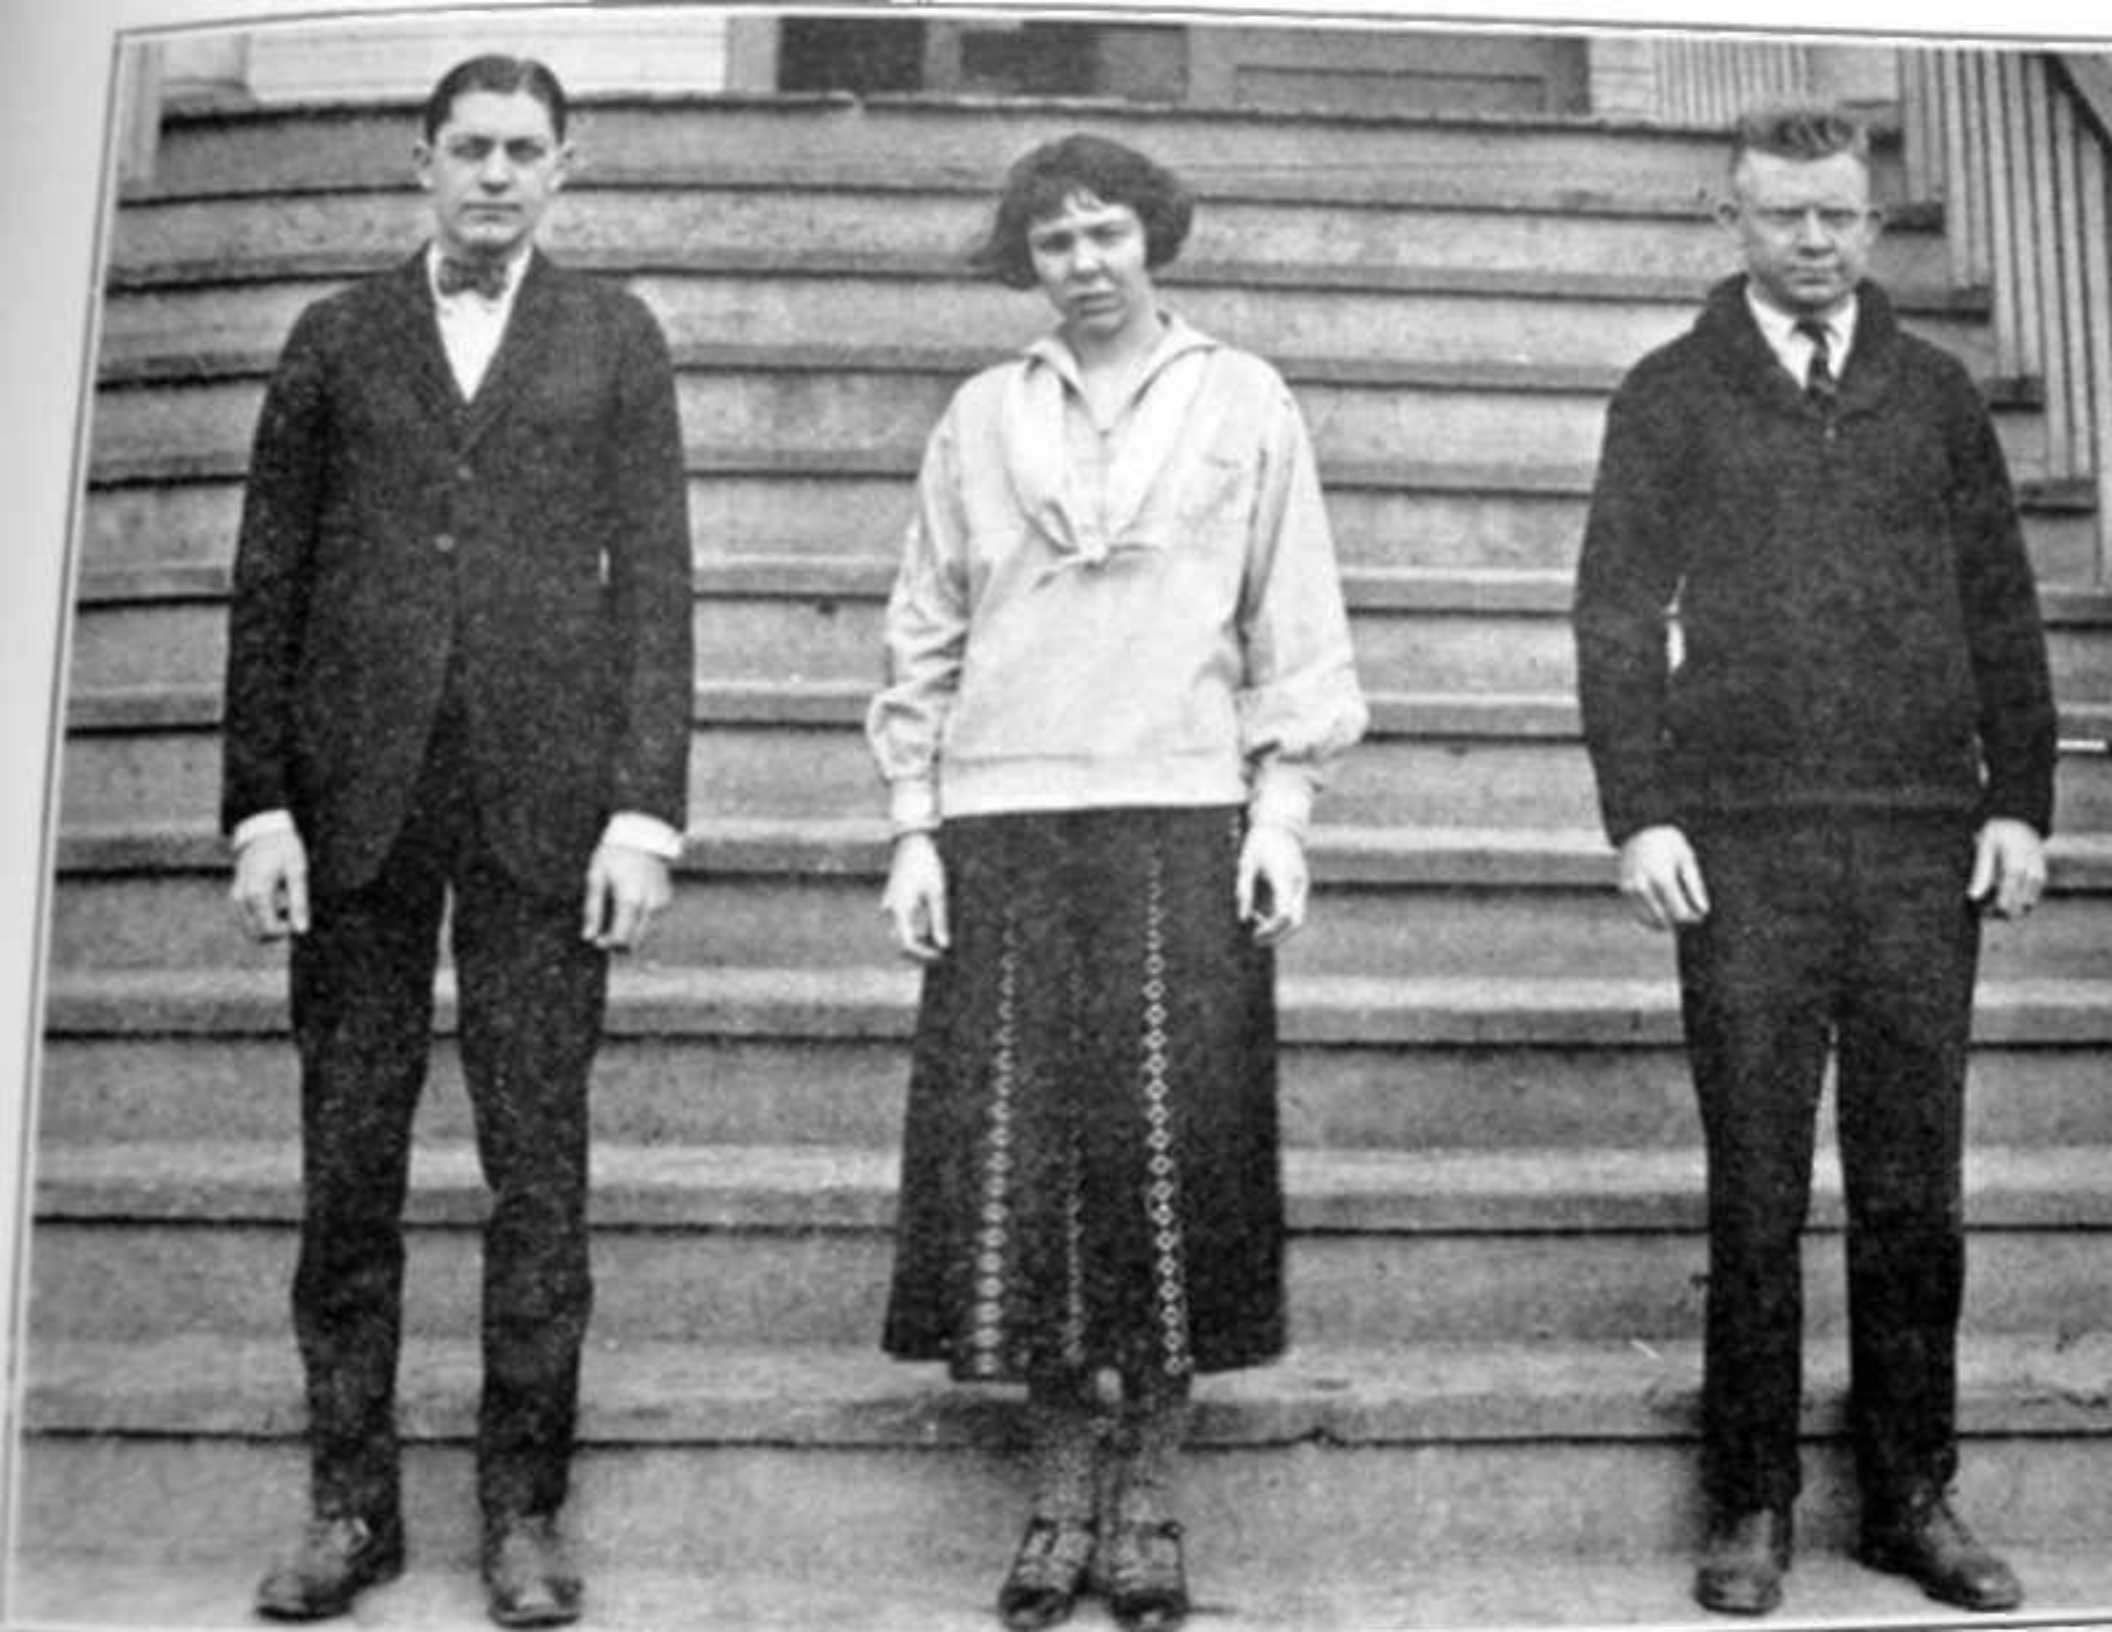

At last a little balmy breeze
Sprang up with a merry tune;
It shook the leaves and swayed the trees
And swept stray clouds from o'er the moon.

Girls' Basketball Team '24

With only two regulars and one sub of last year's team, our basketball season started very successfully. After a few practices it was found that there was some good material from which to pick a team. After the try-out we had a team consisting of four Seniors one Junior and a Sophomore.

Our first game was against the Alumni, in which we showed improved teamwork and marked ability in putting the sphere through the hoop, the score being 33-3. Next we went to Mill Creek, January 4th. Again our team was victorious. Our greatest misfortunes were Jack's black eye and a snowstorm. Who cares for black eyes and snowstorms when winning?

Elkins arrived here, January 18th, confident of winning, as we heard later, but went home with "Down hearted Blues," dragging a 25-4 defeat.

The team was aroused by hints of a trip to Alderson, which came to pass January 29th. There we won two games and lost one by a one-point margin. We received word that Ronceverte wanted to play us on this trip. We did not feel much inclined to play, as we had already met three strong teams. All on the team showed true sportsmanship and grit by playing Ronceverte an 18-18 tie game only to lose in the extra period by two foul goals.

The last was a local game, and our only regret is that we didn't get a return game with Ronceverte and Alderson.

Each member on the quint deserves special mention.

Ida Jackson—
"Jack," our forward, plays the game,
With high points she has won great fame.

Thelma Collins—
"Pinhead," our other forward, is "Jack's" side-kick,
And fooling with her you're bound to get licked.

Colleen Siple—
"Sis," the center, who wouldn't fight,
But plays basketball for Lake's delight.

Gretchen Williams—
"Gretch," the guard, is not very tall,
But playing a forward, she plays for the ball.

Elizabeth Blackhurst—
"Liz," the guard of great renown,
On our trips she is the vamp of the town.

Willa Nottingham—
"Bill," our sub, doesn't play much,
But when she does she "struts her stuff."

Of four good players we are bereft,

James Fitz-James

Bereft of a father's needful care
His mother lost control of her heir;
James, falling into the Dougles' hands,
Was held a captive by their bands.

Freed from the fiery Douglas power,
King James ascended to Stirling Tower,
And there presided in stately way
Scotland's laws before the people to lay.

With bitter enmity still at heart,
Fit-James in clan wars gladly took part;
He assembled his army, as if to seek game,
To prevent the Highlanders from seeing his aim.

Even this monarch could often be found
In disguise traveling the country around,
Thus hearing complaints that never would reach
The ear of a king on Stirling beach.

His reign is well-remembered by those Who look not upon law as their foe;
His many restraints on violence and crime
To his memory shall remain a striking chime.

A burning fever laid hold on the king;
In spite of his youth, it seemed slowly to wring
From him his spirit—having come, it departs,
Leaving him dead with a broken heart.

I feel so exceedingly lazy
I neglect what I oughtn't to should;
My notion of work is so hazy
I couldn't to toil if I would.

I feel so exceedingly silly
I say what I shouldn't to ought;
My mind is as frail as a lily,
It would break at the weight of a thought.

Mr. Schaffner: "Jap, you and Lanty may leave the room."
Jap: "Why, teacher, we didn't expect to take it with us."

Ottie: "I hardly know what to do with my week-end."
Mary: "I suggest that you put a hat on it."

Mr. Monroe (in Bible class): "I am tempted to give this class a test.
Class: "Yield not to temptation."

Mr. Harwood was going down the steps to the auditorium when h slipped and fell.
Miss Brown: "Oh, did you miss a step?"
Mr. Harwood: "No, I hit every one of them."

SAFEGUARD YOUR HEALTH

Ask for the ALL-LEATHER SHOE

When you go into a store and say, "I want a pair of all-leather shoes," you ask for the finest material in the world to walk in.

You ask for shoes that will actually let your feet "breathe." Only leather will do that. You ask for shoes that will give your feet perfect support and protection. You ask for the very foundation of health—protection against damp, uncomfortable feet.

The pores of leather actually ventilate your shoes. That is why leather soles and heels never "draw" you feet; that is why your feet do not perspire—heat can escape.

Leather box toes, leather insoles and leather counters hold shoes in sape—keep them style-fresh. Substitutes used do not have the "give" of leather.

And when, after hard wear, a leather sole is finally worn out, it's easy to replace with another that will give added life to your shoes. Insist upon all-leather shoes. Insist upon leather when you have your shoes repaired.

This is the time, the month of May,
When people need our "Bitters"—
The sunny, languid, vernal day
Is hard of human critters.
They're always feeling tired and stale,
Their blood is thick and sluggish,
And so they ought to blow their kale
For pills and potions, druggish.
If you are sick and in a plight,
Don't swallow dope in rivers
To get your kidneys acting right
And jack-up rusty livers;
Don't pour down team of sassafrass,
As ordered by your Granny,
And chew up predigested grass,
Like some be-whiskered "nanny."

But come to us and try our pills,
Our syrups and our tonics;
We'll cure up all your aches and ills
And some of last year's "chronics"—
For "rheumatiz," we have the stuff;
It's just WILLHIDE'S SPECIFIC;
No need to treat your muscles rough
With liniments terrific;
Just take a bottle home with you,
If you've rheumatic "hinges,"
You'll find that just a dose or two
Will end your painful twinges.
Now don't forget to call on us
When feeling sick and dizzy,
For we need YOU and you need US,
So come and keep us busy.

One day in Freshman English Mr. Schaffner was endeavoring to put across a lesson in art appreciation. Holding up the current issue of The Literary Digest, he asked such questions as: "Are the proportions good?" "Do the colors blend?" "Do you like the picture?" etc. This particular picture happened to be one called "Lenore in a Russian Blouse."

Mr. Schaffner: "Now, Lake Beard, what are the two big things we look for first in any picture; color and what elee?"

Lake Beard: "Don't know."

Mr. Schaffner: "Yes, you do. Think. This chair has the same two big things as the picture. Now what are they—color and——?"

Lake Beard: "Oh, now I know—why legs!"

From Durbin came a truck so full,
So full of joy and mirth;
To travel in it twice a day
Was sure a dollar's worth.

Our truck did go through ice and snow,
Into the mud it sank:
It even went into the ditch
While coming to Greenbank.

And it's been faithful most the time,
It's gone through thick and thin;
The days it'r hauled us here to school
Were the best that've ever been.

Throughout our lives we won't forget,
We'll yearn to ride once more
In the truck that brought us here to school
In Nineteen Twenty-four.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

New Touring Car

$295

F. O. B. DETROIT

Ford utility, durability, and economy are embodied to the full in this new Ford Touring Car.

In addition, it is up-to-the-minute in appearance. It is finished in an enduring black, rich and deep in lustre. A high radiator, enlarged hood, graceful cowl, slanting windshield and streamline body are pleasing details that enhance its style.

With this handsome exterior, it combines every mechanical feature essential to open car utility.

This car can be obtained through the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

"Dat's a shoe box full ob snow, boss. And Ah's mighty anxious foh Car'line to get it, kas sh'e done neveh seen no snow befo'."

Ida (in fun): "Miss Fulgham, when does this Ancient History class go to Lab?"

Miss Fulgham (laughing): "About the last week of school."

Mildred P. (in earnest): "What will we go there for?"

Hope: "I saw you at the Faculty Play last night."

Effie: "No, you didn't! That was my ghost."

Hope: "And whose ghost was that with you?"

Mr. Harwood (in American History): "Now why do you suppose that in just the last year I have begun to appreciate Mr. Roosevelt?"

A voice from the rear: "He's been dead about that long."

Mr. Schaffner: "Where is the River Styx?"

"Sib": Sounds like it is in Holland."

Mr. Schaffner: "No, you cross it before you get to Hades."

"Mike": Mr. Shires, isn't it time for the gong?"

Mr. Shires (looking at his watch): "Let's see, 'Mike,' we have just a quarter of a minute yet."

Mr. Harwood (in an English discussion): "I don't believe in men crying."

Mr. H.: "But I don't bathe in public."

Mr. Schaffner: (in Modern History): "Now, Elizabeth, how large an army did Gustavus Adolphus regard as being ideal?"

Liz Vlackhurst: "Forty thousand."

Mr. Schaffner: "Well, what do you think he would say if he were to come back and see our present day armies, many, many times larger than forty thousand?"
